OUR GIRLS can swim. One, unmarried, swam the Channel. Then an American married woman swam the Channel. Now Martha Norelius, of New York, wins the 400-meter swim, beating the Olympic record and the world's record.

Long distances, or short, across the Channel, or in 400 meters of smooth water, American girls finish first. It is a good sign for the coming generation, which American girls must manufacture.

Next Saturday look for many shooting stars, and thank Eternal Wisdom for the atmosphere which is earth's armor plate.

A shooting star is a meteor, usually of solid metal, melting, reduced to dust as it passes through our air.

At frightful speed, resistance of the air creates friction so intense that all but the biggest meteors melt and are harmless.

If our protecting atmosphere were missing and all the meteors struck with full weight, there wouldn't be a city in existence on the earth's surface.

Prof. R. D. McKenzie, of Washington University, says "Nordic supremacy exists only in the Nordic's own conceit."

It is, however, true fact that the limited numbers of light-haired, light-eyed human beings have done a good deal. They have repeatedly conquered southern areas inhabited by dark-eyed people, only to be absorbed by the darker types.

What historians would call "the 1000 greatest men that ever lived" were, more than 900 of them, of the light-eyed, light-haired type.

Even among dark-eyed races the genius often has light eyes, Napoleon coming from dark-eyed Corsica with his light gray eyes, etc.

It was family life that did it. Men of the north, shut in all winter, had to get acquainted with their wives and children, and stay home. They couldn't go dancing through snowdrifts with other people's families.

In the south, where the roads were open all winter, heads of families probably wandered. That gave the northerners a start.

France may show this rich country how to spend money on a big scale, improving your own. The French consider a scheme for creating gigantic seas in the deserts, originated by Dwight Braman, New York engineer. He would cut three deep, wide canals from the Mediterranean to the beds of three ancient Sahara lakes. Ten thousand square miles would be flooded, and Sahara's climate changed.

Uncle Sam might wake up and think about his own country. He has plenty of money, plenty of water and might use some of the water that does harm in the Mississippi valley.

The statement that Henry Ford drove one of his new cars 400 miles in one day was inaccurate. The facts are that Mr. Ford left Delaware Watergap at 6:10 a. m. Saturday and arrived at his house in Dearborn, Mich., at 1:55 a. m. Sunday, driving 716 miles in 19 hours and 45 minutes.

The worst of it is that Mr. Ford, who got to bed at 2:15 in the morning, was up at 6:30. At 65 years of age that kind of

FEAR MANY KILLED IN SUNKEN SUBMARINE F14

WALTHAM HAS FIFTH PARALYSIS VICTIM; REPORT 2 NEW CASES

A fifth infantile paralysis victim was reported today as two women and two men volunteered to give blood in an effort to check spread of the malady in Watertown and Waltham.

The fifth victim is Phyllis Reinhard, six, of Foundry st., Waltham.

Two new cases were reported in Watertown, but the names could not be obtained, a clerk at the Watertown health department office declaring that Dr. Quirk, head of the board, had ordered that no information be given the public.

The four volunteers who answered immediately a call for blood were Mrs. Mary Roberts of Charles st., Waltham; Miss Elizabeth Higgins of Waltham, who now is in the Waltham Hospital with a broken leg; Harold Hughes of Warren ave., Waltham, and F. J. Slater of Madison ave., Newtonville.

The call for blood, from which anti-paralytic serum will be made, was issued by Dr. C. Benjamin Fuller of Waltham and Dr. Elliot Luther of the State Department of Communicable Diseases.

At present there is a serum supply for only 50 persons.

3 Rescued at $8,000 Fire in Chelsea

Mrs. and two girl guests were led to the street and safety early today by Patrick J. Gaffney, chief, truant, officer, during a fire in the Gaffney home in Crescent ave.

The girl guests were Lillian Barlow, 20, and Ella Crowninshield, 21.

Kenneth Bunker, another guest in the Gaffney home, groped his own way to safety through the smoke.

The fire caused a damage estimated at $8000.

The flames, originating in an unoccupied bedroom from a cause yet undetermined, were extinguished.

The house is situated next to the parochial residence of the St. Rose Catholic Church, which was not endangered. Gaffney was aroused by the smoke which filled his own bedroom. Awakening his wife and the guests, he escorted them to the street and sounded an alarm.

RESCUERS PUMP AIR TO SURVIVORS OF 31 IN ITALIAN NAVY CREW

Rome, Aug. 7 (AP)—Rescue workers, laboring all night to bring aid to the Italian submarine F-14 sunk in the Adriatic early yesterday, when run down by destroyer in naval maneuvers, have succeeded in attaching a pipe to the crippled vessel to supply air to those imprisoned, numbering two officers and 29 men.

Although communication between the submarine and the rescuers is being maintained by submarine telephone, it is not known how many members of the crew are still alive and it is feared that some may have been killed by the first rush of water which was prevented from flooding the entire submarine by her watertight compartments.

The officers aboard were Capt. Weil and Commander Fasulo.

HUNT FOR HUB FUGITIVE CONVICT IN MAINE TOWN

The hunt for William F. App, 35, who escaped from State Prison, Charlestown, in civilian clothing, turned to Maine today as a result of the receipt of a letter for the prisoner from a distant relative.

According to Sanford Bates, commissioner of corrections, the letter arrived at State Prison shortly after App, a trusty serving 10 to 12 years, made his getaway.

From the trend of the letter, which was postmarked from a small town in Maine, it was believed App might head for that place, and as a result the hunt has been extended in that direction.

Hopes of running down the fugitive were strengthened when officials said the escaped prisoner was unfamiliar with any section of the New England states other than Boston and vicinity.

The report from Warden Hendry of State prison was received by Commissioner Bates, who will make the customary investigation to deter-

7 Seized in Opium Raid

Descending again on the Chinese, police today seized seven in a predawn raid in Oliver pl., off Harrison ave., and captured also a supply of opium, and a number of pipes and opium-cooking lamps.

Members of the police headquarters vice squad went over a roof to complete their raid.

One Chinese across the street sighted the officer in the dim light and shouted a warning to the Chinese inside the building being raided.

These seven attempted to close a heavy window shutter on which the officer was standing, but the raider held the shutter open with a pry-bar until his comrades arrived. Then the entrance was made and the Chinese arrested.

TOM MIX PRAYS THAT WIFE RETURN TO HIM

Los Angeles, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Examiner today says that Tom Mix, cowboy film star, and his wife, Mrs. Victoria Forde Mix, have come to a parting of the marital trail and that Mrs. Mix, who left here a month ago for Europe, is planning to obtain a Paris divorce.

Mix has confirmed the news of the projected divorce proceedings, it was declared. He was quoted as saying:

"When she went away I told her I would agree to anything she want ed to do. Her happiness and that of our baby is mine. But every night I pray that she and Tomasina will come back to me.

"This house is always open to them. It wouldn't make any differ ence if I were living in a tent. It would be their home if they wanted to come back."

HEARST PAPERS PLAN NATIONWIDE BALLOT

Within a few days the Boston Evening American, in co-operation with other Hearst newspapers throughout the country, will conduct the most comprehensive nation-wide straw ballot on the presidential election ever attempted in political history.

Indeed, all the voters of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont will be given a chance to express their preference, and first tabulations of the campaign will be ready for publication very soon.

It is believed that the voters of

12 MORE ARRESTS IN FALL RIVER STRIKE

Fall River, Aug. 7—Twelve more arrests in strike demonstrations brought today's total to 37. Several women were among them. One, Mrs. Mary Carvalho of Spring st., is alleged to have drawn a revolver from under her dress while being arrested and she was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

PROFIT-TAKING HALTS STOCKS' RISE

Profit-taking in the closing period in Wall St. today checked a rise of broad proportions. General Motors sold off over $3 a share from its day's high and National Tea $6. Venezuelan-Mex in Boston again sold at 53, up 1-2.

CROSSLEY BEATEN IN HEARST GOLF PLAY

John F. Kelley of Brookline pulled the big upset of the day in the first round of match play in the William Randolph Hearst Junior Golf Tournament at the Blue Hill Country Club today.

Kelley defeated Wilfred Crossley one up. Kelley was two down at the turn and won the match with an eight-foot putt on the home green.

One of the other brilliant players of the tournament today was W. E. Martin of Rhode Island. The Clambigger defeated P. L. Sleeper, Jr., of the Country Club four and two.

Joe Lynch, former Massachusetts junior champion, defeated Marty O'Toole four and two.

Lynch was four up at the turn. Starting off at the round Lynch was one under fours and at the fifth hole out was one up. Joe Fay of Rockport, by consistent driving, eliminated S. Bernadetto, 4 and 3.

Fay takes on Tom Mahan in the second round of match play this afternoon. What should be one of the best matches of the tournament will be that between Bill Cosgrove, who eliminated William Furst, 4 and 3, and Art McCarthy in the second round. McCarthy eliminated W. H. Taylor, 2 and 1.

Jack Healy defeated George Ford, 4 and 2. This was a great match

A. F. L. WOMEN SHRIEK AT 'BLAST' IN SALEM

Explosion of a firecracker or a torpedo in Now-and-Then Hall, Salem, today, during a debate at the convention of the Massachusetts State Branch of the American Federation of Labor, threw some 250 delegates into confusion which was quieted before a panic ensued.

Immediately following the explosion, which was very [illegible], several women delegates shrieked. They were quieted by cooler heads among the men and while [illegible] was resumed a search was conducted for the [illegible].

The question being argued at the time was whether the nominations should be held today, as scheduled, or be put over until tomorrow.

DRAMATIC MOMENT IN TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT WHEN 3 ARE RESCUED

RESCUERS PUMP AIR TO CREW TRAPPED IN SUNKEN ITALIAN SUBMARINE

The first great gusset of the sea opens was reached early this morning when the divers succeeded in attaching a steel cable to the crippled vessel after fixing the tube through which it was possible to pump air into the ship.

Efforts to lift the submarine will be started as soon as possible, but the work is being greatly hindered by heavy seas.

Latest reports received from the Gulf of Pola, in the upper Adriatic, where the submarine sank, indicate that the wind is freshening and waves are sweeping over the section from which the rescue efforts are being made.

Tug rescuers were taking shelter in fishy ellows to reflect the submarine because it was feared her watertight compartments might give way. The F-14 was built strongly enough to dive 150 feet but as the submarine became older this so-called safe depth was gradually reduced so it is now only 75 feet.

The submarine now lies in more than 130 feet of water, or almost twice her safe limit and it is therefore considered merely a question of time before the watertight compartments yield.

When the accident occurred the cruiser Brindisi came the Austrian warship Helgoland was anchored near by. Admiral Foschini, who was on board the Brindisi, took charge of the rescue work.

The position of the F-14 was definitely determined by observers in a seaplane and the naval vessel Aquila was then anchored at the spot. Admiral Foschini went aboard the Aquila to direct the rescuers.

Inspection by divers who went down this morning showed that the submarine had been struck by the destroyer near the stern.

The F-14 was engaged in a naval attack maneuver. It rose to the surface, emerging right under the bow of the destroyer Giuseppi Missoni. The destroyer ran the submarine down and it sank almost immediately. The damage to the destroyer was slight.

The alarm was immediately given at the Pola naval station and the rest of the squadron rushed to the sunken craft's assistance.

Within half an hour divers were working their first descents, despite terrible weather conditions. The work continued all day and when night fell, men-of-war stood by with searchlights concentrated on the spot. The divers worked without interruption in relays during the night.

The F-14 is a coastal submarine of the Fiat-Sauzigreio type. It was launched in 1917 and was due to be returned within contract. It is of 250 tons displacement and therefore one of the smallest in the Italian navy.

It is 150 feet in length and 12 feet wide. She has two torpedo tubes and one 76-millimeter gun. Her speed on the surface was 13 knots.

Other Submarine Disasters Take Heavy Toll

The sinking of the Italian F-14 recalls these other submarine disasters:

U. S. S-4 with loss of 22 officers and men off Honolulu in 1915.

British boat lost with 23 men off Gibraltar in 1927.

U. S. S-48 off Bridgeport, Ct., with loss of 42 men in 1922.

O. S. P-4, near Atlantic entrance of Panama Canal, with loss of three men in 1925.

Japanese submarine lost with 85 men, largest number in submarine history, off Kobe, in 1923.

Another Japanese boat lost with 19 men off Sasebo in 1924.

British L-24 lost off Portland, Eng., with 43 men in 1924.

Italian boat Sebastiano Venire lost with 30 men off Sicily in 1925.

F-14 Sinking Recalls Tha of S-4 in Which 42 Died

Sinking of the Italian submarine F-14 and the trapped crew's communication with rescuers vividly recall the tragic days that followed the sinking of the American submersible S-4 with a loss of 42 lives off Cape Cod last December.

The Italian rescuers are faced with the same task as confronted the American navy. The F-14 went down in collision with an Italian destroyer; the S-4 was struck by the coast guard destroyer Paulding.

The slowly suffocating crew of the S-4 rapped messages to divers by banging on the hull with a wrench; dubiatenes from Roma indicate that the men in the F-14 are communicating with rescue craft by means of the submarine telephone.

Weather conditions hampered the work of salvaging the S-4 and conditions in the Adriatic were reported unfavorable today for rescuing the F-14.

When the S-4 went down, the hulk lay on the bottom for days while divers worked feverishly to lift it. Inside its steel walls men were slowly suffocating, rapping out messages to their rescuers.

On December 19, two days after the collision, it was came the faintly tapped message: "Is there any hope?" A day later the tapping became unintelligible and there were no more signals.

Then the weather became too rough to work and the task was temporarily abandoned. The S-4 was not raised until several months later.

Infantile Plague Can Be Cured If Treated In Time

Infantile paralysis is not so severe an illness as many believe if discovered in time, Dr. Ellis Luther of the State health board said today in broadcasting a warning for quick action.

If a child or grownup, he said, complains of stiffness in the neck to the right or left and above the spot where the neck and spine bone join, or if there is the slightest sign of a rising fever or upset stomach, call upon your family physician at once, so that the illness can be diagnosed and treatment administered.

Prompt action will perhaps save long months of suffering or prevent the death of a victim of infantile paralysis. If serum is administered while the disease is in its prepara-lytic stage, the patient will be fully recovered from its effect in the course of two or three weeks.

decision was reached to accept them later today.

William E. G. Batty of the New Bedford strike committee, and Abraham Bliss, secretary of the New Bedford Textile Commission, were speakers.

Batty said the mill owners took advantage of slack business to institute the 10 per cent wage cut and vent their wrathe upon labor for the defeat of the 10 o'clock working law for women.

Bliss said the New Bedford strikers are fighting both manufacturers and "reds," the later having arrived when the strike was fully organized.

Chances for further improvement in labor conditions were discussed by Arthur Huddell, international president of the Engineers of America.

ply sufficient for only nine days and more must be made up.

The physicians pointed out today that the present away of the malady in the two communities is not yet in the epidemic stage and they feel there is no cause for alarm.

All persons who suspect infantile paralysis in their households or who observe in children or adults symptoms that may be those of infantile are urged to secure a doctor immediately.

If serum is administered to a sufferer before the paralysis stage sets in, the patient is practically sure of a cure in two weeks with no after effects.

Six of the victims of the present epidemic are almost ready to leave the hospital, fully recovered.

ARREST 14 IN FALL RIVER

the 500 parading pickets at the noon demonstration were only three and four years old. The march began at "Liberty Loi" on Mulberry st., which the union owns, and proceeded toward the mill where the trouble chiefly centers.

That 900 are now on strike was admitted by Assistant Treasurer Nathan Durfee of the American Printing Company, but he asserted that their places have lately been filled. He complained that workers not on strike are being intimidated.

The strikers, drawn from all departments of the plant, are members of the more radical Textile Mill Committee group, protesting against a proposed wage cut of 10 per cent, and asking an increase of 25 per cent.

Operatives adhering to the Fall River Textile Council, conservative labor wing, are not on strike but some are idle because their work is dependent on those on strike.

As in New Bedford, where 27,000 mill workers are on strike, the authorities here declare mass picketing illegal and refuse parade permits.

HUNT FUGITIVE IN MAINE

mine the responsibility of App's escape. This occurred when the man, who is a plumber and was considered a model prisoner, was working in one of the tenement houses in the prison block occupied by the guards.

While John H. Myers, a fireman from the engineering department of the prison, was on the roof pouring potash down a vent pipe, App went into the house, exchanged his prison uniform for a light gray suit and cap he found there, locked the back door and left by the front into Chapman st.

Following a conference with Warden Hendry, Myers, who lives in Blake st., Revere, and has been employed at the prison only six or seven weeks, tendered his resignation and it was accepted.

It is understood prison officials censured Myers for not taking App to the roof with him, instead of leaving the prisoner alone on the ground. Since App's escape the prison is without a plumber, and it will be necessary to send outside for help if any plumbing repairs are required.

Circulars bearing a complete description of App together with his finger prints, measurements and photograph, are being prepared to be sent out through Massachusetts and adjoining states. The customary State reward of $100 is offered for information leading to the missing prisoner's recapture.

'Bossy's' Tree Cutting Drive Endorsed by Portsmouth Man

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 7 — The tree removal campaign of Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, mayor of Newburyport, received endorsement from an unexpected quarter today after Mrs. Ruth Chandler, society woman, had wrecked her new $5500 sedan against an elm in Sagamore ave.

In a letter to a local paper, her husband, John P. H. Chandler, son of the former U. S. Senator and secretary of Navy, William E. Chandler, wrote:

"Bossy Gillis is absolutely correct in his contention that the proper place for trees is in the woods and not near the highways, where they inconvenience and endanger motorists. I have in mind more than one accident due to this menace."

COURTNEY MAY HOP AGAIN

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney and E. H. Hosmer, the Canadian hockey who bashed his ill-dated flight to Newfoundland from the Azores, would like to try it again.

The two men, who with two companions were picked up in mid-atlantic when fire forced their plane down, believe if shins let their flying boat drift unmolested it will float to the Spanish coast and or available for another try.

G. O. P. SENAAE CANDIDATES IN DRY QUIZ

A definite stand on the principle of the 18th amendment was asked today by Robert M. Washburn, president of the Roosevelt Club, in a statement to the three Republican candidates for U. S. Senator from Massachusetts.

"Do you endorse the principle of the 18th Amendment?" is the question asked by Gen. Butler Ames, Eben S. Draper and B. Loring Young, the candidates.

"It is hoped your reply will be Yes or No," an added statement said, "and not stop with the declaration that you stand on the national platform. This says nothing and candidates are not nominated by party platforms but on their own individualities and positions.

"The Roosevelt Club is neither for nor against the 18th amendment, but it is a unit to the end that present intolerable conditions shall cease. It is, therefore, submitting this question to the candidates for the Republican nomination for the Senate.

"It is the only test of your position on the issue of constitutional prohibition, concise, clear and searching," were among other statements in the query.

Naval Flier Killed

7 ARE SHAKEN UP IN BACK BAY CRASH

Seven persons were severely shaken up today when a taxicab and another automobile crashed in the rain at Berkeley and Newbury sts., Back Bay.

The privately owned car was knocked against a fire alarm box post, across the sidewalk and on to the lawn of the Central Congregational Church.

It was driven by Salvatore Russo of Syracuse, who was taking his parents, three sisters and a brother, all residents of Boston, to New York city to live.

The other occupants were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Russo, Antonio, 58, of Norwell st., Dorchester, the brother, and the three girls, Mary, 14; Rose, 12, and Josephine, 17.

The cab was driven by Edward Jacobs of Topliff st., Dorchester. Both cars were damaged.

Three Hurt in Auto Collision in Rivere

A woman and two men were injured today on North Shore rd., Revere, when an automobile, driven by the woman, according to police, was in collision with a truck, rebounded into another car and finally crashed into a rail fence.

The injured were Mrs. Makek Babcock of Dearborn st., Boston; John Rottoglino Spring st., Cambridge, and Louis Spozer of Lynn.

The first two were taken to Cohasset Memorial Hospital and treated for lacerations. Rottoglino, it is feared, may also have suffered internal injuries. Spozer received treatment at the scene and went home.

Mrs. Babcock's car and the truck, driven by Spozer, collided in a sideswiping crash and the machine then struck Rottoglino's, police say. The truck was going toward Lynn and the other two toward Boston.

SHARK-BEATING MAN NOW

MAN-EATING SHARK MEETS MASTER

In a desperate battle for near two hours, Charles Marino of Fleet st., North End, of the fishing schooner Charles Foss II, mastered this 380-pound man-eater in the waters off Provincetown today. It is the largest shark brought to Boston in four years, and was trapped in the nets. It will now be used for lobster bait.

CAMBRIDGE COP KEPT AWAKE BY MUSIC

The question of whether music is art or a nuisance, along a agitating residents of High st., Cambridge, was still unanswered today.

Patrolman Thomas H. Leary, who works nights and tries to sleep days, and who owns the house at 17 and 19 High st., Cambridge, is convinced that music is a nuisance and should be suppressed.

Maurice Sam, record pianist at 5 High st., is strong for the angels and declares that Leary is irritated by the fact matters because he does not understand them.

In the meantime, Leary, whose mind is occupied with numbers, ranges, color of which is unsure, has asked Chief of Police John J. Mellrath to transfer him from night duty to day duty.

He says that not only is he robbed of sleep which adds to the cares of state, so to speak, of his office, but that he also suspected the piano playing of Sam and are investing night hours in the 2nd floor front day long.

In addition to the appeal to his chief, Leary is communicating tables the matter up with the zoning board.

"For Zeus sake make who are because when I quote a committee he scales. 'If it is worse music or something to prevent this nuisance from being committed in a residential district, to the lookey of residents.

The follower of Orpheus, on the other hand, points refuses to change his hours of practice. After the disclaiming the title of professional, he pointed out that he is an accomplished musician, who has studied at Vassar, Radcliffe and the home of Reverend Elliot.

"If," interrupted Mr. Leary, "it is severe sleepiness but music is no business, and I have to keep private time, he said. "The old motto of private time, he does not understand music."

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Seventeen broadcasting stations will be hooked together tomorrow night to broadcast a farewell program for Commander Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic expedition. The party plans to sail for the South within a few weeks. Stations in the hookup include WJZ, Boston; WTIC, Hartford; WJAR, Providence; WEAF, Worcester; WGSH, Portland, Me. The broadcast will open at 7 o'clock, Eastern standard time.

FINDS BODY OF FRIEND OFF ALBANY ST. WHARF

It was a shock today to John J. O'Leary of Lacoma st., South End, to awaken on an Albany st. wharf to find the clothes of his friend, Patrick Doherty, on the wharf, but Doherty missing. Then O'Leary saw his friend's body floating in the water against the piles. A police boat recovered the body. O'Leary told police he and Doherty, who lived in Richfield st., Dorchester, had gone to sleep on the wharf last night.

First Picture of Italy's ∽ Sunken Submarine F14

This is the first picture printed in Boston of the Italian submarine F14, sunk in the Adriatic sea by a destroyer in naval maneuvers. Rescuers fear that many of the crew of two officers and 29 men perished at the first inrush of water, though submarine communication is maintained with those still alive in watertight compartments. The picture is reproduced by the Boston Evening American from "The Italian Navy of the World War" by courtesy of Marquis A. Ferrante di Ruffano, Italian consul in Boston.

BOSTON TO HAVE MORNING MUSICALES

Betty Alden Notes Philanthropic Tinge to Affairs Scheduled to Take Place in the Hotel Statler Ballroom

ENTER THE MORNING MUSICALE IN BOSTON'S SCHEME OF THINGS ULTRA FASHIONABLE. New York has had six Mr. Bazby these many years, and Washington, the Mrs. Townsend, now Boston sees the light and inaugurates its own morning musicales. And, of course, there's the omnipresent philanthropical slant. Boston's high and mighty find enjoyment all the greater listening to warblings and fiddlings if Sweet Charity is to make her lucrings thereby. So the great ones, even this early, are graciously signifying their approval, taking seats en bloc and putting the best of high approval on the innovation.

MUSIC, VOCAL AND INSTRUMENTAL, ENLIVENS SOME SCORE OR MORE OF MORNINGS AT the Hotel Statler. Stars of the concert stage, operatic high lights, pianists, violinists, contraltos, sopranos each of certain fame, will move in melodious progression across the platform of the Statler's handsome ballroom, the Wade Society brains approval in great numbers. Certain forecasted ones, greatly concerned, find the whitewashing to grease financial wheels for pet charities, are bespeaking mornings. The entire winter, really, appears to be destined to shine musically. And something new and different is grafted to fashionable amusements.

MRS. JOHN JAY WHITE IS A PETERBOROUGH HOSTESS ENTERTAINING EXTENSIVELY THIS season at her charming place in the Southern New Hampshire hills. Leighton Rollins was recently a guest at Mrs. White's, coming over from Wilton and the J. J. Blakes. Mrs. White is a New Yorker winters, brilliant member of the set that combines artistic achievement for always the social excitements Gotham provides her exalted ones, and so continuously sponsors artists and writers.

THE FLOWER SHOW AT THE NEWPORT CASINO GIVES MRS. FREDERICK LOTHROP AMES AN opportunity to entertain Boston friends for luncheon and then take them on to see floral marvels in all their gorgeousness. Something from the Ames estate will be shown, of course. Mrs. Ames being an ardent supporter of the affair. The rumor arising several months ago that Mrs. Ames and her daughter, Miss Mary Ames, were to make New York their winter home in future seems about to cease to be a rumor and become fact.

IF THEY DO DEPART GOTHAMWARD, THE PROMINENT, BOARD-SEEING MRS. AMES AND THE blithesome Miss Mary Ames will leave a distinct void in Boston's social scheme. They are perfectly at home, however, in New York's upper crust. Being one of the Cryder triplets, Mrs. Ames' social connections in the Big City are topnotch, and Miss Ames' affinities of interest between the two centers, as popular in one as in the other. Feminine friends she has in numbers, and many a swain dangles at her beels. Smart heels they are, too. Always wearing the trimmest shoes to complement swagger sports attire, the sort of outdoor daytime costume Paris considers chic.

MRS. CROMPTON SMITH

The spouse of the well known owner of blue ribbon horses, is a handsome member of the sports set.

NOT YET IS THE TIME ARRIVED WHEN THE PRESIDENTIAL lace can hang in milady's bonnet. In this year of 1928 and equal suffrage, Madame or Mademoiselle can only hope some day to become the Chief Executive. As August approaches September and the silliest situation waxes warm, Madame who cannot be President but may be a presidential supporter, commences to actively support. Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer is such a one. A Newport villa and the claims and diversions of the Queen Resorts City of its season's very apex cannot keep this solemn campaigner away from town where her services are needed.

MRS. THAYER WILL SOON HAVE HER HAND ON THE WHEEL speaking politically. Speaking socially, she relinquishes Newport's attractions at daily's call. A leader of the Rhode Island Set's quietly conservative sort, Mrs. Thayer moves serenely through a summer, a governess of the Casino, a distinguished visitor to the Country Club links, Her Bellevue ave. villa is not a magnificent chateau, as are some establishments on the famous way. Nor are her favorite motors foreign cars of racy lines and colors. She is modest in all things, but, secretly, loves a leader. Her colorists here will sing paeans of joy when she arrives.

BAR HARBOR'S YOUNGER generation in this season demonstrating its "adorable qualities, Miss Winifred Thorndike, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike, moves out of subdebutante obscurity to blossom as arranger-in-chief for this evening's costume ball. Bar Harbor is in the throes of its Maritime Week, doing all manner of brilliant things for the visiting navy officers. Miss Thorndike is a sister of Miss Isabel Thorndike, whose coming marriage in Bar Harbor will be elaborately done. There is a big reception, al fresco, and a pre-nuptial dinner to help celebrate a wedding the like of which Bar Harbor has not seen for many a day.

PLAN $1,000,000 STAGES FOR TALKING MOVIES

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 7 (AP)—Winfield Sheehan, vice-president of the Fox Film Corporation, announced today that construction would begin here shortly on four talking picture stages costing approximately $1,500,000.

Sheehan also gave out plans for production of five feature-length talking pictures, all to be ready for the screen before Jan. 1, and announced the signing of a large group of legitimate stage actors, authors and directors. The players signed include Chick Sale, "rube" comedian of vaudeville; Gilbert Emery, Lumsden Hare, Clifford Dempsey, Robert Clark and Paul McCullough (the vaudeville team), Paul Fung, Bon Holmes, Arnold Lucy and Helen Twelvetrees.

DEAD TROLLEY DELAYS MANY

Hundreds were delayed for work and traffic from Kenmore sq. to Park st. was tied up for five minutes early today when the motor of a two-train trolley went dead at Commonwealth ave. and Brighton ave.

The crippled car with its passengers was pushed to Kenmore sq. by the trolley following it, at which point an emergency crew repaired the motor. Scores of workers either walked to their offices or were transported by passing autos and trucks.

Traffic Jams as Everett Goes Democratic in Style

A group of mischievous small boys who decorated the statue of Edward Everett in Edward Everett sq., Dorchester, with a girl's hat, a quart milk bottle and an "Al Smith sign," caused scores of minor traffic jams in that vicinity today.

Sometime early today the youngsters descended in force upon the defenceless gentleman and placed the milk bottle in his outstretched hand. Then a little lad ran home and returned with a hat long since discarded by his elder sister. Then, while all were laughing at their prank, another boy appeared and placed the political sign of the Democrats presidential candidate on the statue.

Hundreds of motorists from Dorchester and points along the South Shore stopped to laugh as they sighted the statue while passing through the square.

CAPTURE DEER ISLE FUGITIVE

Shivering in the long wet grass on the southeastern corner of Deer Island, where he had crouched all night, Joseph F. Broderick, an escaped prisoner, was captured at daybreak today.

With the guard of prison guns covering him, Broderick surrendered without a struggle, his only comment being that he had tired of prison life and had seized the opportunity to get away.

He was quickly given prison clothing, placed in a car and returned to the prison.

BRIDE KILLS HIM WITH KNIFE

New York, Aug. 7 (INS)—Mrs. Frances Kirkwood, 25, and attractive, early today killed her husband, H. Edwin Kirkwood, 36, with a bread knife during a quarrel in their home at Bensonhurst, Brooklyn, L. I.

According to police, the young woman admitted she was goaded into a jealous rage over an absent girl friend of her husband.

The tragedy was brought about, she explained to police, by neighborhood gossip concerning her husband's alleged friendship with other women while Mrs. Kirkwood was on a four weeks' vacation at Lake Bantoosoma, N. Y.

MORE SHOWERS DUE TONIGHT

Must Show Some Speed to Jump Into Bed Ahead of This

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—The fellow who said he was so fast he could switch out the light and be abed asleep before the room was dark may now know just how fast he needs to work to beat electricity. He has about five ten-millionths of a second.

The gauge of this speed was disclosed today in the announcement by the General Electric Company of the first closeup photo ever taken of "wink" lighting—that is, natural as distinguished from laboratory made lightning.

SEEK BLACKMEI ON PERJURY

Dallas, Aug. 7 (INS)—Arthur D. Fast, an agent of the United State Treasury Department, called upe the Ministry of Justice today to ex plain the warrant which has been issued for the arrest of Henry M. Blackmer, missing Teapot Dome witness.

Blackmer is not wanted in connection with the Teapot Dome inquiry, but is accused in the federal court at Denver, Colo., of perjuring himself in making out an income tax paper.

Her MAIL-ORDER husband!

Read in September TRUE STORY the fascinating story of this girl who believed that marriage should be a business proposition—and made it so.

ALL the marriages she knew of seemed to prove that love was blind — so to get her husband she mailed a coupon! Let experts recommend him!—as bankers recommend a bond.

Only this would be a marriage bond. Not an adventure, but an enterprise. A merger of souls, not a union.

And so she found herself traveling—a little frightened now—a thousand dreary miles to meet and marry "Mark Stevenson, age 35. Generous, good-tempered, affectionate, handsome. Plantation owner."

Idly she visioned the quiet luxury and culture of life in the Old South, in the picturesque foothills of Arkansas. These she understood were largely owned by Mr. Stevenson.

Then came an hour that was like a fantastic dream. Could this be Stevenson, the handsome plantation owner, this lean taciturn stranger she had wed in the dim light of the parsonage? Was this his carriage and pair, this creaky old buck-board?

Mile after mile she clung to the seat at his side, in an agony of tears and mortification. Surely this was some cruel pretense, to test her resolution!... Or had she, too, been merely advertised for and bought? . . On and on they jolted and creaked — the business girl and her coupon husband! Well, she would see it through until tomorrow, until—

But you will want to read for yourself this amazing, true story as Virginia herself tells it—complete in September TRUE STORY—out today! By what a miracle this mail-order marriage became a tremendous adventure! The situation that followed—more amazing than the wedding. EN. VARE REPORTED AS MUCH IMPROVED

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP)—Dr. John J. Shaw, Philadelphia physician who is at the bedside of Senator-elect William S. Vare, said today ill at his home in Pleasantville here, today issued the following bulletin:

"Mr. Vare's condition is much improved. He has held the gains obtained in the past 48 hours. He is resting comfortably. You can take this with perfect assurance that nothing serious has absorbed our attention. It does not mean that Mr. Vare was not not out of danger."

LEAVES BULK OF $200,000 ESTATE TO SON

Cutting off her husband, Walter S. Allerton, without mentioning his name except in the list of heirs-at-law, Mrs. Adelaide L. Allerton of Brookline bequeathed the bulk of her $200,000 estate to her son, Walter S., it was revealed today by her will, filed for probate at Dedham.

Mrs. Jeff only personal ornaments to her daughter, Mrs. Adelaide A. Herbert, but stated that this was not because of any affection for her husband, but because she believed these ornaments would be more suitable to her daughter than to herself.

U. S. AIR BOARD STUDIES BIDS FOR 2 ZEPPS

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—A board of aeronautical experts will convene next Friday to consider bids for two dirigibles, costs of about $3,000,000 each, not exceeding, to be used as naval scouting craft, bureau of aeronautics announced today.

Three bids are said to have been submitted, one from the Goodyear corporation and one from a German airship builder. At least two more are expected.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, is chairman of the board. The bidders may require considerable study and several weeks are expected to elapse before the awards are made.

Although no official announcement has been made, it is known that the Goodyear Zeppelin Company of Akron, O., and the American Rohrbach-Dornier Corporation of Camden, N. J., have made a number of bids on the ships. It is understood that the Zeppelin interests of Germany submitted a bid, in view of the fact that they have constructed more than 100 dirigibles.

Congress authorized the expenditure of $5,000,000 for the two dirigibles, with $2,000,000 available next year.

The legislation provided that construction of the second airship could be suspended if circumstances warranted, and that in this event not more than $2,000,000 should be expended on one ship.

NONE TO BLAME IN 4 DEATHS

A finding of "no criminal negligence in the death of four persons killed last May in a train and auto crash at Skinner's Crossing, Lynnfield, was reported today by the Public Utilities Commission.

The victims, occupants of the auto, were Virginia Follett, four; Mrs. Mary J. Kennedy, her grandmother; Pauline Kennedy, the children's aunt, all of Newton, N. H., and Silvestre R. Messier of Manchester, N. H., driver. They were hurled to death when an explosion followed the crash.

Messier was driving slowly, it was found, but was unfamiliar with the territory, a route to Pittsfield.

The only other specific bequests are $2000 each to Bertha V. Nichols of Concord, N. H., and Henry A. D. Jackson of Hardwick, Vt., who also share the residue. No valuation is placed on the estate.

BROOKLINE WOMAN WILLS TREMONT TEMPLE $1000

Specifying that "no part of my estate shall go to any relatives, except as herein mentioned," the will of Mrs. Sylvia Jackson of Brookline filed today in Norfolk Probate Court at Dedham, leaves $1000 to Tremont Temple and the same amount to Woodbury, Vt., "for the comfort of the poor."

The only other specific bequests are $2000 each to Bertha V. Nichols of Concord, N. H., and Henry A. D. Jackson of Hardwick, Vt., who also share the residue. No valuation is placed on the estate.

YOUTH HELD IN AUTO THEFT AND DRIVING CASE

Charged with operating an automobile after his license had been revoked and with larceny of a machine belonging to Otto E. Maier of Commonwealth ave., Peter G. Kelly, alias James "Tin Can" Keller, 18, of Howell st., Dorchester, was today bound over for the Grand Jury in $500 bail.

SHOTS END RUM AUTO CHASE; 2 ARRESTS

Endowed by automatic aim from moving machine gun and rifles, a fleet of rum runners was routed by Coast Guard cutters Tampa, Acushnet and Seneca, and Lieut. Marion Magruder Thomas, Jr., commanding the latter, succeeded in the Narragansett bay waters today.

The rum runners, among one of the most spectacular scenes in the history of the Newport and southern coasts, during the prohibition era, were thrown into a state of terror as the fleeing machine bullets through a strong police cordon at Charter and Commercial sts. and hurried from this Thatcher st. under a hail of lead.

Sergts. Mooney and Butler of Station 1, in charge of the detail posted to capture the liquor-laden machine, narrowly escaped death as they stood in the path of the car, shouting commands to halt.

The machine raced through Commercial st. headed directly at the officers and without slackening its speed broke through the lines the police had formed. At Charter st. the car swerved and running along the sidewalk, barely avoided crushing several patrolmen against a building.

Sergeants Mooney and Butler opened fire, drilling the bonnet of the fleeing car with four shots but even this failed to bring the fugitives to a halt.

A police car containing Patrolmen Finn and Savage roared along in their wake and opened fire as the machine rounded into Washington st. Both officers emptied their pistols at the rear tires crippling the fleeing machine as it neared Bridge st.

TURTLE AWARD COMING SOON

Anxious turtle fans—be anxious just a few hours longer.

The "disowned baby" letters are being judged and, if everything goes well, the result will be known tomorrow.

There were hundreds of letters from persons explaining their idea of how the turtle got into the live oak log brought up from a Florida lagoon to become part of the reconstructed U. S. Frigate Constitution, the "Old Ironsides" of historic fame.

Philip Andrews

To someone, then, the $10 offered by the Boston Evening American for the best letter will be paid soon.

The judges going over the letters are Park Commissioner William P. Long of Boston, Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the First

Wm. P. Long

John A. Lord

Naval District, and Lieut. John A. Lord, in charge of the Constitution reconstruction work.

BLOODY VIMY RIDGE IS VETERANS' PICNIC GROUND

Beaucourt, France, Aug. 7 (AP)—Vimy Ridge, one of the bloodiest battlefields of the World War, was turned into a picnic ground today when the great pilgrimage of British veterans and their families celebrated the Canadian victory of 1917. Mayors of nearby towns greeted the pilgrims and many of the residents of those places joined the pilgrims. All, including Countess Haig, widow of the field marshal, carried their lunches.

Rain Halts Argonne Show

BOUTS PUT OVER ONE MORE DAY

Dick "Honeyboy" Finnegan, rangy southpaw from Dorchester, will not get his chance to revenge himself on Johnny Jadick of Philadelphia at Braves Field until tomorrow night. Rain caused Eddie Mack to put over the Argonne A. A. show another day.

Jadick walloped the local favorite in Philly a short while ago and since then Finnegan has been waiting for an opportunity to square accounts with the latest junior lightweight sensation from Philly.

Ever since Finnegan met defeat at the hands of Jadick in a blinding rain storm in Philadelphia before a during the first nine holes of play. Healy was out one up at the turn.

The second round will be played this afternoon, and with the field reduced to sixteen, the calibre of the matches will go up.

Due to the fact that the players left in after the second round will all be awarded prizes, there will be some merry battles on this afternoon. March play will continue through Thursday morning at which time the final William Randolph Hearst junior champion will be crowned.

EAST BOSTON TEAM SEEKS DIAMOND OPPONENTS

The Third Section Improvement Association baseball nine of East Boston is desirous of games with any team whose players range between the ages of 18 and 22. The association will play at or away from home. Write to Sam Hancock, 64 Falcon st., or call Kan. Boston 0231-W between 5 and 7 p. m.

LAMAR IS BACK FROM HOME

Henry Lamar, the young heavyweight who suffered a knockout at the hands of Jim Maloney a couple of weeks ago, is back in Boston after a visit to his folks at Washington. He was accompanied by his manager, Frank Shannon.

"We wanted to show the family that Henry was all right even though he was stopped in the fight," said Shannon. "You know, his folks do not know much about boxing and we were fearful they would be worried at the setback which went on.

"Lamar suffered mostly from stage fright or nervousness. He saw every one of those damaging punches Maloney landed on him as they were started, yet he was so up in the air he couldn't move his feet and get out of the way of them.

"It's a part of what every young boxer must go through. Henry has gone through it now and I don't think he will suffer a second fright attack.

"He still is positive he can beat Maloney and nothing would be more pleasing than another chance at him.

"However, we are willing to wait at the bottom of the ladder and work up again. Henry can't move, Hell get there."

LEXINGTON TEAM PLAYS READING SUNDAY

Manager David M. Peake of the Lexington town baseball team has booked a game for next Sunday afternoon with the Reading town nine, to be played on the Lexington Center playground diamond, at 3:15 o'clock.

This contest will be the first of a series between these rivals.

Reds-Braves Open Series Tomorrow

By NICK FLATLEY

The Cincinnati Reds make their final bid for the National League pennant tomorrow afternoon at the Wigwam when they tackle the Braves in a double-header. Rain brought about a postponement of a twin bill booked for today. The Hendricks horde just about must win both of these games to consider themselves in the race.

These Reds were the surprise of the campaign in the first half. They shot up close to the top and stuck there. They had fine pitching and real infielding, the proper combination.

They have come on hard times lately, though. Two of their best experienced pitchers, Mays and Donohue, are out of the picture. Carl has a sore arm, while Pete has been shipped home to see if Lucy osteopaths can iron out a sore back.

The Darling staff came to grief while the fighting was hottest, and the Reds now have just an outside chance. They're eight and a half games back of the flying Cards. If they bump into any kind of reverse in this series, which includes two games tomorrow.

Nick Flatley

JACK HENDRICKS, Cincy manager, is an optimist, and therefore is unwilling to talk about his club just now. Jack's boys are still dizzy from four straight lickings in New York. They gained a full game on the Cubs while resting though, and still have hopes of edging the Giants out of second place.

"Nobody expected us to figure in this race at all," chirped Mister Hendricks, "yet we have been in there from the start. We had a little bad luck lately, but that's to be expected. If the clubs out front bump into the same trouble we can get back there once more.

"We don't plan pennant drives or anything. Just keep plugging, along trying to win every day. Any club that keeps hustling has a chance in this race, even though the Cards are pretty well out. If that club ever slips there'll be one wild scramble."

Jack, like the rest of the pare following members, is praying for a Card flop, which doesn't seem to be on the program.

MANAGER HORNSBY of the Cub Braves still gets a shot of nails every time he bends his bumped knee, but he will try to get into one game tomorrow afternoon. Rogers believes his club has found itself, and wants to have his bat in there.

The knee bruise is healing and three days of rest have helped mightily. The Rajah points out that the double stand of his Tribe against the Cards Saturday was the best effort any one club has shown with the cocky leaders as foes.

The Braves' pitching has improved so much that all the club needs now is pep, and that will come with a few consecutive victories. No team can take it on the chin day after day and remain cheerful and ambitious.

ART DELANEY will pitch one of the games for the natives tomorrow, and Kent Greenfield will get the other assignment.

Adolpho Luque, the talented Cuban, and nifty Ray Kolp were the Hendricks nominations.

HOLMES-JANCO TO FIGHT

The soldier athletic organization at Fort Banks, Winthrop, will more from take a jump into the fistic limelight on Thursday night when it will stage Eddie Holmes of Providence, and Henry Janco, the Navy feather champion, in the main bout of its tourney.

They are two scrappers of the crackerjack type and their eight rounds clash on Thursday night easily shapes up as the best contest yet held at the Fort.

Under this bout will be four sixes and a four and as the entire show will be open to the public, both men and women, a record turnout of fistic fans is the expectation.

The sixes will bring together these performers: Eddie Collins, Fort Banks, vs. Louis Zizzo, Revere; Freddie O'Connor, Y. D. Oramp, vs. Johnny Delano, East Boston; Oscar Record, M. N. G., vs. Johnny Shea, M. N. G., and Tony Shanco, North End, vs. Tom Quisley, M. N. G. In the four-round opener Spike Delay of Fort Banks meets Pete Coughlin, U. S. Navy.

Los Angeles Too Far Away for British

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—J. F. Wadmore, manager of the British Olympic team which just returned from the games at Amsterdam, told an interviewer today that he welcomed the allocation of the next Olympics to the United States, but thought the plan of holding them on the Pacific Coast is impracticable.

"If American authorities don't change the venue to somewhere on the Atlantic Coast I'm afraid they are going to be very much disappointed with the representation at the next games from the British team, as well as many other nations. Los Angeles is too far away."

Joie Ray After Coaching Job

Amsterdam, Aug. 7—Joie Ray, United States veteran, who finished fifth in the Olympic marathon race, will retire from running and seek a coaching job after competing in the marathon at the Irish National games at Dublin August 15, he said today.

Joie said he was broken-hearted over his failure to win the Olympic classic, which in his confident way he had regarded as his. He hopes to "syndicate" himself at Dublin, he said, and then to return to the United States in September.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a Wednesday assignment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

LAZZERI TO REJOIN YANKS ON THURSDAY

Chicago, Aug. 7—Tony Lazzeri, who was to rejoin the Yankees here tomorrow, will remain in St. Louis until tomorrow night and join the club at Boston Thursday. Manager Huggins talked with Lazzeri over the phone today and Tony is much encouraged over the results of the treatment which he has been taking at a St. Louis hospital.

Somerville Cubs Win

Staging a fine uphill fight, the Somerville Cubs nosed out the Cambridge Catholic Club, 6 to 5, at Lincoln Park.

The Cantabs were leading, 5 to 0, before the Cubs broke into the scoring column in the third.

Malcolm Stevenson on U. S. Polo Team

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—One of the three holes in America's international polo team has been filled up, Malcolm Stevenson, veteran international and one of the four 10-goal men in the polo world, has reconsidered a previous decision to retire from international competition and will play against Argentina next month.

Tryouts for the team which will face the crack South American aggregation for the championship of the Americas, starting Sept. 8, have been in progress for several weeks with only Tommy Hitchcock, new captain of the squad, assured of a place.

A home is a man's greatest asset! Do you own yours? If not, now is the time to buy. You'll find scores of sound values listed today in the real estate columns of the classified Ads.

POCASSET OPEN STARTS

Pocasset, Aug. 7—A two-day open amateur tournament, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Golf Association, got under way at the Pocasset G. C., 45 players getting in a round.

The committee in charge is expecting a large entry for the final day today.

Two gross and two net prizes will be awarded.

The Simon Pures who have yet to play on this well-known course on the Cape will be fully repaid by their visit. The par is 35—37—72.

Several new holes have been provided and a large number of greens remodelled.

The new locker building, built the past winter, comprising 75 lockers, with showers, should prove a real asset for everybody concerned, especially those who spend their week-ends at the Beeches.

U. S. Olympians In Nine Foreign Meets

Amsterdam, August 7—With the 1928 Olympic track and field games a thing of the past, American athletes have begun to turn their attention towards meets in other lands. No less than nine sets of games will be featured by the appearance of American stars within the next two weeks.

The schedule includes a meet against the British Empire, at Stamford Bridge, London, on Saturday. Other meets drawing United States barnstormers are in Dublin, Paris, Ghent, Rotterdam, Stockholm, Berlin and Dusseldorf. Charlie Paddock, Frank Hussey, Roland Locke, Weems Baskin and Chuck Werner will appear at Paris on August 11.

DREWES HAS HARD JOB IN DEFENDING TENNIS TITLE

Cleveland, Aug. 7 (INS)—Ted Drewes, the St. Louis wizard who has demonstrated his mastery in every national public parks tennis tournament since 1924, faces stern competition in this year's meet.

Drewes was aware of this today following the first day's battle in the 1928 tourney. The champion did not look his part yesterday, when he required four sets to dispose of Richard Rose, a comparatively unknown player from Scranton, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4, 8—6.

RUNNER WANTS LOT OF WORK

Wallace Young wants more races.

The sensational North Adams Y. M. C. A. runner, who captured the special hour race at the Scotch games last Saturday, has already signed to run in Boston again with in a few weeks.

Even before the young man had romped away with Saturday's hour special, he had affixed his signature to an entry blank for the Lieut. Lawrence J. Flaherty American Legion Post 10-mile run, to be held in East Boston Labor Day.

He'll make 'em all travel. He's the lad, it will be recalled, who insisted on being placed at scratch with Jimmy Henigan in a race a few years ago.

Some of the well-known plodders already signed are, besides Young, Chief Hornito Stanton, Westerly, R. I., Indian, one of the six to complete Saturday's grind; George Welch of Arlington, winner of the Sanford, Me., American Legion marathon July 8; Robert Campana, St. Joseph's Club, East Boston; David Kneeland, Jr., of Dorchester; Harry Gretzky of Flaherty Post, and Martin Silver of Waltham.

Illinois Board Turns Down Loughran

Chicago, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Illinois State Athletic Commission declined today to join the movement to recognize Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia as Gene Tunney's successor to the world's heavyweight championship throne.

The commission was requested to extend recognition to Loughran by Thomas E. Donohue, president of the National Boxing Association.

SOX IN WINDUP WITH ST. LOUIS TODAY

St. Louis Mo., Aug. 7—Winning six straight games in the last 15 contests in which they engaged has not made the Red Sox proud of themselves, but it has made them extremely popular in this section of the American League.

The Indians, White Sox and Browns are especially thankful for the visit of the Chicago batterymen because an easy victory over the Boston boys counts just as much in the final figures as a verdict over the Yankees.

Time in losing another game to the Browns, the Red Sox made a bit as they went down in a 9 to 6 setback. Hodgson's three pitchers couldn't quite hold Howley's Hoosiers.

Slim Harriss found himself in the hitting of Minneapolis an easy mark for the first inning, when the Browns tallied twice on him and pounded out five hits in all.

He lasted until near the end of the fifth inning, when the Browns scored another and whacked over enough hits to make them a total of seven off the long boy. This performance on Slim's part made way for Jack Young. Mr. Griffin, who seemed to have the Browns by their short hairs, allowed them down with more or less ease and grace.

But one thread of a weakness went it came to pitching in the free of course, his hits, and the Brooks managed to eke over a pair of runs in the eighth, when Fred Heimach let an ordinary smash get past his head for a triple, and Hollocher dropped a throw, to place first and second on the sacks and let the Brownies do the rest.

STIMPSON'S NO. 20 WINS YACHT RACE

Wianno, Aug. 7—The first junior race of the Atlantic series was sailed here. A fresh northerly breeze was blowing off the land.

The boats were sent over an inside triangular course twice around. H. Stimpson's No. 20 gained the lead soon after the start and won handily.

Golf is certainly not a game of scientific exactness. I always like to stress the point that, when I say definitely that I do thus and thus at such and such a time, I mean that I try to do what I describe. The swing is so fast and so complicated that it is very hard indeed to separate entirely the component movements.

One of the many inaccuracies in what is called golf technique exists in the very common admonition to "hit from the inside out." I have heard always since I can remember that the proper way to hit a golf ball was with a stroke which caused the club head to approach the ball from inside the projected line of flight and to follow it along a line outside the line of flight. The late Douglas Edgar's famous "gate to golf" was reported to have been designed with this theory in view; to force the player to hit "out at the ball."

I have sometimes wondered why it was that golfers everywhere searched for a man who successfully followed the precepts outlined above. The wonderful manufacturers used to advertise that one could tell by the magic of the toe on the sole of the club whether or not the club head had followed the proper path; and I confidingly and somewhat doubly have examined the bottom of my driver on countless occasions, I must confess with shame, that I have not yet seen a mark which would indicate that I had hit toward the "outside."

I BELIEVE that the conception of hitting "from the inside out" had its origin in the efforts of conscientious and despairing instructors to help you and me to get the right sensation of drawing the clubhead across the ball. Nearly every novice is an hundred per centtime he is probably brings his club "from the outside in." The reasons why he commit the trouble is to advise the pupil to do the thing diametrically opposed to what he is doing.

The resultant of the forces impelling him to do as he has always done and this second by his instructions effort to do as he is told is very often course to being the correct thing. But I think no instructor expects his pupil to be able to achieve the end to which he advises him to aim.

As a matter of actual fact it is a very difficult thing to "hit out" at the ball and still preserve even a semblance of timing. Hitting out nearly always results in a push without the decision quality of a well-controlled blow.

There is a certain young man in Atlanta who has so patiently and thoroughly worked on the "hit out" theory that he has certainly been able to accomplish it. As a reward he is now possessed of an outlandish hook which he cannot subdue, although in every other respect his swing is extraordinarily good. He has pinned small hopes upon me in the hands of Frank Ball and is making fine progress, but he no longer thinks about hitting from the inside.

The point is that the old rule is a good one to follow if your habit is sliding. To try to "hit out" is usually a good cure. Similarly, however, if you do "hit out", which very few are able to do, then you would best try to slice a bit. The correction works both ways and I think that the ideal lies midway between.

POOCH DONOVAN ARRIVES IN N. Y. SATURDAY

W. J. Pooch Donovan, veteran Harvard trainer and former track coach, who was stricken suddenly with heart disease while at the Olympics at Amsterdam, may not be as severely ill as was first imagined, according to information received at the Harvard Athletic Association.

Edward J. Brown, head coach of the Harvard crews, also of Amsterdam with the Harvard four-oared crew, has written the Harvard authorities that Pooch, who has spent some time in the hospital before starting for the United States, left the care of physicians much improved.

He was able to walk aboard ship. At present Pooch is on the Atlantic, in company with Eddie Ray, Dartmouth and Olympic coach, who volunteered to bring him back to this country.

Donovan is due to land in New York Saturday and will be met by H. W. Eddie Cloak, assistant director of Harvard athletics.

Later this week the Harvard athletics expect to get in touch with Farrell and Donovan to express to determine just how the veteran fares.

TITLE CYCLE CONTEST ON WEDNESDAY

If Nat Butler and Jude Pinto, two men on admission, the international championship race at the Revere Cycle Track will be held Wednesday night, with six riders competing for the points that will settle the American title this season.

The race has been postponed three times for the rain, but Nat is determined that he will schedule it for the rest of the season, if need is.

Dodging his fellow countrymen will be Fermo Gemetti, Italy, holder of the championship, and present leader in the race for this year's title; George Chapman, Newark, who has been champion six different times; Frankie Keenan, Revere; Larry Gaffney, New York; Symington Ayers, Italy, who won the big finish in Wheel race, and Victor Hopkins, Lowell, title two years ago.

Chappie continues to rule a slight favorite to ride off with the majority of the points. If Gemetti is right he should press hard all the way and Keenan too, if he can ride without motor or tire trouble will be favored.

Jackie Loxton, Al Bernhardt, Marcel Dangman and Lou Hall will be the starters in the semi-mixup, over an identical course over an unlimited distance. Other races will also be held.

California Crew Beats Italy in Quarter-Finals

GOLDEN BEARS WIN BY FOUR LENGTHS

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 7 (AP)—The University of California eight oared crew added Italy to its list of beaten opponents in the Olympic rowing regatta by defeating the Italians today in a quarter-final round race.

The victory was the third straight for the Californians in Olympic competition. They now have beaten Belgium, Denmark and Italy.

California beat Italy by four lengths.

As they did in both previous races the Californians got away fast and had a slight lead on 250 meters. At 500 meters they had increased the margin to a good half-length and at the finish their lead was four lengths.

All three of the Californians' victories have been by impressive margins, as they trounced Belgium by eight lengths, Denmark by three and now Italy by four.

California's time in beating Italy was 6 minutes, 32 2-5 seconds for the 2000 meters, just 13 yards short of a mile and a quarter. Italy's time was 6 minutes, 49 2-5 seconds.

The quarter-final round race which brought together two of the leading rivals of the University of California crew for Olympic honors in the eight-oared class, the British eight defeated Germany by one boat length.

The Canadian eight won from Poland by a length.

Canada's time was 6 minutes 37 2-5 seconds and Polands 6:42 1-5. Poland led until the 1000-metre point, which is halfway, when Canada made it bow for bow. The Canadians then forged half a length ahead at 1500 metres and finished strong.

American Scores Victory in First Olympic Ring Bout

Amsterdam, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Olympic boxing championships got under way today, with Stephen Hozlalo, American lightweight, and Tommy Potsch of Czecho-Slovakia squaring off in the first elimination bout.

Holaiko won on a foul in the third round.

Tommy Loven, captain of the United States team and one of its mainstays, was defeated by Landini of Argentina by a decision today in the eliminations in the welterweight class. Landini had the better of the American in the first and third rounds.

Kojac Establishes New Back Stroke Swim Record

Amsterdam, Aug. 7 (AP)—George Kojac of New York established a new world's record for the 100 meters back stroke swimming today when he qualified for the Olympic semi-finals. His time was 1 minute 9 4-5 seconds. The former record of 1 minute 10 1-5 seconds was held by James A. House, Jr., of the United States.

Walter Laufer and Paul Wyatt of the United States also won heat respective heats and qualified for the semi-finals which will be contests tomorrow.

Laufer's time was 1 minute 12 4-5 seconds and Wyatt's 1 minute 14 seconds. Wyatt took second in the race of the day, finishing only a few feet ahead of Lundaahl of Sweden.

The other qualifiers were Schumburg and Peters, Germany; Beresford and Prinsen, Holland; Brouckaert, Lundahl, Sweden; Blitz, Belgium; and Wood, Australia.

The United States entrants were supreme in the elimination series of the springboard diving. Harold Smith won the third heat with 160 points last night. Clarence Pinkerton and Michael Galitzen, the other American entrants, also won their respective heats yesterday. They were well ahead in their respective fields with a wide margin of points to spare.

Agnes Geraghty of the United States qualified for the semi-final in the Olympic 200-meter breaststroke, the first event disputed this afternoon. Agnes Geraghty, the Olympic record-holder for the distance, with a time of 3:07 3-5, was second in Paris in 1924, and the brightest hope of the American team in the event, followed second to Miss Schrader of Germany.

Miss Geraghty swam a great race, although defeated. Leading by a few feet at 50 meters she was overhauled by the speedy German girl before the 100-meter mark was reached, the German, pulling steadily away, won by more than 10 meters, but she had to beat the world's record to do it, negotiating the distance in 3 minutes 12 5-5 seconds. The New York girl's time was 3 minutes 18 4-5 seconds.

The second heat was won by Fraulein Mube, Germany; Miss Baron of Holland was second and Gertrude Hoffman of Kingston, Pa., third. The United States entry may qualify, however, as the swimmer making the best time for third place in the four heats is eligible to compete in the semi-finals. The time of winner of the second heat was 3:15 1-5. Miss Hoffman's time was 3:21 2-5. She was tied for third place with Miss Haselius of Sweden, who also finished third in the first heat. No Americans were entered in the third heat, which was won by Miss Braun of Germany, with Frau Zinnnerman of Germany second. The winning time was 3:12 2-5. Fourth and last heat was won easily by Miss Van Norden, Holland, with Miss Epsen, Illinois Women's A. C. second. Miss Van Norden's time was 3:27 1-5 and Miss Faunts made the distance in 3:29.

All three of the American girls entered remained in the competition as Gertrude Hoffman qualified through a tie for the last time for third.

The first semi-final heat for the men's 100-metre breaststroke was won by Tsuruta of Japan, with Spence of Canada second. Thomas Blinkerburg of Oakland, Cal., the only entrant in this event from the United States, finished last and was eliminated. The winning time, 1:15 4-5, set a new Olympic record.

The second and last of the semi-final heats in the 200-meter breast stroke competition was won by Rademacher of Germany, with Harding of Sweden second. The time was 2:56 3-5.

Tsuruta, Japan; Spence, Canada; Hofdeines, Philippines; Rademacher, Germany, and Harting, Sweden, qualified for the finals.

In the elimination heats of the 400-meter men's free style swimming two heats in each heat and the first three for all heats qualified for the semi-finals scheduled for Thursday. The first heat was won by Austin Clapp of Hollywood, Cal., with Arai of Japan second.

Clapp nailed the Japanese for 300 meters, but then uncorked an irresistible spurt, and in the last 100 meters pulled away to a victory by 10 meters. Clapp's time was 5:13 2-5, while Arai swam the distance in 5:23 2-5.

Clarence Crabbe of Honolulu won the second heat, with Yoneyama of Japan second. Crabbe's time was 5:20 2-5.

In the third heat Ault of Canada was first, with Heinrigs of Germany second. Tarone of the Philippines finished fourth and was eliminated.

Ken Myers Advancing to Semi-Finals in Sculling

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 7 (AP)—Ken Myers, American singles sculling entry in the Olympics, defeated the Swiss entry, Candeveau, in the quarter-finals today.

Joe Wright, star Canadian rower, was defeated in the quarter finals of the singles sculling Olympic event by Collett of England.

Collett captured the race by two lengths, his time being 7m. 58s.

Bobby Pearce, the young Australian single sculling sensation, overwhelmed the Frenchman, Saurin, to the tune of one of the heats of the Olympic rowing regatta, beating him by more than 20 lengths over the 1,000-meter course. Pearce's time was 7 minutes, 42 2-5 seconds and Saurin's 8:11 4-5.

Pearce is a son of Harry Pearce, a former world's professional title-holder, and is one of the favorites for the Olympic crown.

International Commission Votes to Retain Women's Events

Amsterdam, Aug. 4 (AP)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation, after a spirited debate, today voted 16 to 6 to retain the women's track and field events in the Olympic programs. By a vote of 11 to 6 it rejected a full list of ten events asked by the Women's International Sports Federation.

The 400-metre event, which was the most hotly contested of all the programs, was rejected by a 12 to 9 vote with one abstention, while the broad jump, shot put and 200-metre flat also failed to command a majority.

The six events, which at American suggestions found favor with the Federation's delegates, were the 100-metre flat, the 400-metre relay, the high jump, discus throw, the javelin and the 100-metre hurdle.

Those opposing the retention of the women's events in the Olympics were headed by a country whose women athletes won the present Olympics women's track and field meet—Canada. The Canadian delegates were supported by Great Britain, Ireland, Finland, Hungary and Italy. Australia and South Africa bolted the British Empire's united front and voted for the women's events, as did also the United States, Japan, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Esthonia, France, Germany, Greece, Holland, Norway, Poland, Sweden and Switzerland.

The United States delegation opposed the inclusion of the 800-metre run, the broad jump, the shotput and the 200-metre dash during the women's events but the 200-metre event came very near adoption. The vote on it stood deadlocked with eleven nations favoring and eleven opposing, whereupon the organization's president, Edstrom of Sweden, cast the deciding vote against it.

At the suggestion of the Japanese delegation the I. A. A. F. Council will consider the advisability of including some middle distance run for women, say five or six hundred meters. A special commission will also look into a plan for holding trial heats for the women's events at Los Angeles in 1932 on successive mornings and setting aside a full day for women's finals exclusively.

The women's athletics question was settled after considerable oratory, in which Lady Heath of Great Britain urged somewhat dramatically:

"Let us help you raise our national banners on the Olympic pole. We are now your comrades and co-workers in industry, commerce, art and science—why not in athletics?

"If you approve of athletics for women at all you must approve of participation in the Olympics, for women need the stimulus of matching their prowess against others of the world's best athletes quite as much as the men."

Replying to the argument that women were not in the ancient Olympic games, Lady Heath retorted that neither were the hop, step and jump, fencing and pistol shooting.

Testimony that competitive athletics is not injurious to women was advanced by Dr. Bergmann, examining physician of the women athletes of Berlin. He said he based his conclusions on ten years of observation which had indicated that women athletes got married and had children just as did non-athletes.

Frau Lina Radke, the world's record-holder and Olympic champion in the 800-metre run for women, does her own sewing, cooking and housekeeping like any other housewife, he said, any participation in competitive athletics having no harmful effect on her system.

Murray Hulbert, president of the American Amateur Athletic Union, complimented the women on the excellent results of their events in the present Olympics and held that the 800-metre run meant over-exertion.

The white-haired Capt. Howman of Australia closed the debate riotously, remarking, "we favor women's participation but don't think women ever can become man's equal physically. In fact, I hope you'll never become so, for you already have the powerful weapon of feminine charm which almost persuades us to vote for your proposal of 10 events in the face of our better judgment."

Irish Star Refuses to Compete For British

Amsterdam, Aug. 7 (AP)—The British empire will be without at least one strong arm in its meet against the United States Aug. 11. Pat O'Callaghan, 22-year-old Irish doctor from County Cork, who won the Olympic hammer throw, has declined to occupy a place on the British team and created something of a sensation by the manner of his refusal.

Invited to join the empire forces by the English, O'Callaghan replied: "I have seen too many Irish boys shot down in front of their homes to be willing to represent the British and I know too well how American people provided homes for the Irish to compete against her."

O'Callaghan may follow the example of so many of his countrymen and go to the United States. The New York A. C. was ready to open its doors to him and welcome another addition to the Irishmen who have made hammer throwing famous.

The Olympic champion has been a competitor for only a year and a half, but now he expects to take lessons from the daddy of the hammer throwers, John Flanagan, who won the Olympic championships in 1900-04-08, for the Irish-American A. C., New York, and really learn how to throw the 16-pound ball. Flanagan now lives in Ireland.

O'Callaghan went to see Flanagan before the Olympics, but the latter told him: "Don't attempt to change your style now. Stick to it until after the Olympics and then come to me and I'll show you a few tricks."

Schooner Battles Crutz at Salem

Al Schooner, the Hartford, Conn., heavyweight, battles tough opposition on Friday night at the Salem Rink, when he collides in the feature bout of 10 rounds with Filadelfo Crutz, champion of Portugal. Manager Silva has billed three other bouts which will be announced later.

Schooner has been in training for the past month and will enter the ring in the best shape of his career. And right he should be, for the foreign champion is one of the toughest opponents Schooner has met in the ring to date.

First Punch Beat Dempsey and Heeney

By Gene Tunney

World's Heavyweight Champion

New York, Aug. 7—Two punches in particular that I landed on Tom Heeney seemed to me to bring a sudden end to the match that went all but eight seconds of eleven rounds. Those punches were almost identical.

The first and last noted was the opening punch of the fight, a right smash to Heeney's chin that nearly ended the match then and there. The second was a looping right to the jaw that sent the challenger to the floor in the tenth round, all but unconscious, and saved from a knockout defeat in that session only by the bell.

There was some coincidence about that first wallop. As Heeney rushed across the ring in response to the opening bell I let it fly just as he came into range with his chin stuck out, his hands wide and the intent to finish things quickly written all over his charging body. The blow landed full on the center of his chin just below his mouth.

Through my mind flashed the thought that Heeney must go down, that no man ever could withstand that impact and keep coming on. Instead, the iron-headed challenger never batted an eyelash. In fact, he lotted my jaw instead with a swirl of punches that drove me into the ropes.

In that exchange I received the only damage of the fight. When I finally boxed my way clear, there was a slight scratch in my left eyebrow and a bruise just under the eye. It is still a bit black and blue.

I THOUGHT then as I looked at Heeney and boxed about him carefully that the man was not human, that he brushed that terrific punch away as though it had been the amusing contact of a fly alighting on his face. Belting his head, then, was like crashing your hand into the wall. Heeney's jaws gave way just about as much as a solid oak beam would have.

"Well, I thought to myself, "this evidently will be a contest between the strength of your chin and the strength of my right hand. I think my hand will bear up longer."

So it proved. Later on in the match I found Heeney's chin more resilient. The oak in him is represented more plastic. He gave ample evidence when I landed.

The first punch was one of the definite points in the plan of battle I had outlined to myself before entering the ring and which I have set down in earlier articles in this series. It was the very punch that sent the heavyweight champion sulp from Jack Dempsey in the rain of a September night two years ago in Philadelphia.

ON that occasion I started from my corner determined to get in the first punch. I did. It was also a right smash to the chin with every ounce of strength and weight behind it. Dempsey stood up under that punch as Heeney did not 5 seconds previously, but the blow shook him up so and startled him to such an extent that what ever plan of battle he had arranged was lost for the night.

The psychology of that punch is interesting and one I am understandable to a person who never has seen a boxing contest as he is to a professional boxer, one who has tried it himself many times.

In any match both boxers come to the center of the ring with a definite program outlined in the mind. The final instructions of their handlers are ringing in their ears. More often than not, the first time situation was to "get in the first punch."

Both men can't land the first punch. Naturally the one who fails has his whole battle program thrown out of gear at the start. It has taken a solid smash. His head is muddled and the fight is only seconds old.

He is out there in the center of the ring, the loneliest place in the world, despite the thousands within earshot distance, bereft of the most powerful weapon he could call to knowledge that things are wearing out as he planned. He is running second at the very start.

TILDEN TO GO ON TRIAL AUG. 24

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Whether "Big Bill" Tilden is to play tennis in the future as an amateur or a professional rests in the hands of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Charged with violating the amateur rule of the U. S. L. T. A. through newspaper articles he wrote during the Wimbledon championships, Tilden will come to "trial" today, but he brushed that terrific punch away as though it had been the amusing contact of a fly alighting on his face. Belting his head, then, was like crashing your hand into the wall. Heeney's jaws gave way just about as much as a solid oak beam would have.

SMITH TURNS SEARCHLIGHT ON RECORD

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Dusty legislative records, most of them nearly a quarter of a century old, were under Governor Smith's scrutiny today as the Democratic Presidential nominee refreshed his memory on his stand, as a rallying pleasure, assemblyman from New York's East Side, on various proposals.

The Governor turned his own searchlight on his record to be in a position to answer opponents assailing his stand, particularly on legislation affecting the saloon.

Whether he will have something to say to the public on the subject remains uncertain. He has told inquirers that until he completes his study he himself will not know what he will do.

The activity of the nominee chiefly grows out of the blast against him from William Allen White, Kansas editor.

In addition to work today on his acceptance speech and his study of his legislative record, Smith, as Governor of New York, had on his schedule the hearing of appeals for clemency from four murderers awaiting electrocution in the Sing Sing death house.

Heflin's Support of Smith Depends on 'White Race' Issue

Washington, Aug. 7 (INS)—Whether Governor Smith, Democratic presidential nominee, will have the support of Sen. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, depends upon Smith's acceptance speech, Heflin said today.

"There are several things Smith must make clear before I make up my mind," Heflin said. "Among these is the race question. I am waiting to see if he will declare for supremacy of the white race."

The senator did not mention religion, but said many Democrats were dissatisfied with Smith's telegram on prohibition following his nomination at Houston and that in a recent trip through the Middle West he (Heflin) did not meet one Democrat who expressed an intention to support Smith.

JOHN M. THAYER TO RUN FOR CONGRESS IN FOURTH

Worcester, Aug. 7 (AP)—John M. Thayer, Democrat, a member of the Worcester County bar and son of the late Congressman John R. Thayer, today placed in circulation nomination papers for Congress in the fourth district.

Mr. Thayer, who has been prominent in the party councils many years and previously a candidate for Congress and district attorney, is expected to be unopposed for the nomination, but will have Congressman George R. Stobbs for an opponent in the election.

HOOVER TO WIN ON WATERWAY, SAYS DAVIS

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 7—That Herbert Hoover will win the farmer vote by championing the development of inland waterways throughout the country was the prediction today by Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war.

Davis, after calling on Hoover, declared the Republican nominee had "a greater vision of America's waterway problem than any other man in the country."

"The farmers realize that one of their greatest problems and the most constructive measure of farm relief available is cheaper transportation," said Davis.

Davis told the nominee he would carry the Middle West after a hard fight. National Committeeman George H. Crocker told him he would sweep the Pacific Coast States by the largest majority in history and would win every State west of the Mississippi, except Texas.

Davis said he thought Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois were surely Republican and that Missouri, Wisconsin, Arizona and Nevada were battle grounds.

Crocker placed Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada in the Republican column.

The nominee spent today at his home working on correspondence. He gave up a tentative plan to visit Yosemite Valley. He may make the trip next week.

Hoover Headquarters in Sight of Smith's Office

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Albany Republicans, to put this county, which in recent years has gone Democratic, in the Hoover column, have set up a campaign base within a stone's throw of the east steps of the Capitol where Governor Smith will deliver his speech of acceptance.

A store room, across the street from the Capitol, has been taken over by the Albany County Republican committee. On the windows are emblazoned: "For President, Herbert C. Hoover — for Vice-President, Charles Curtis."

From his private office the Governor can look across at the headquarters of his foes.

We and Dry War Calls Out Heavy Vote in Missouri

St. Louis, Aug. 7 (AP)—A heavier vote was expected in today's Missouri primary election than in previous years, because of the wet and dry issues. The primary of four years ago brought out 655,344 voters.

Three candidates for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, Nathan Frank and Bernard Ridge of St. Louis and Henry A. Bundschu of Independence, are running as wets, while State Senator David M. Proctor of Kansas City and W. O. Atteson of Butler are avowed drys. Roscoe C. Patterson, United States district attorney at Kansas City, opposes "nullification."

In the Democratic race Charles M. Hay, St. Louis, a dry; James A. Collett of Salisbury, a wet, and Robert L. Young of Kansas City were listed with Senator James A. Reed backing Collett against Hay, an old-time enemy of Reed's.

Kansas Primary Fights Draw Near Record Vote

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 7 (AP)—The gubernatorial and congressional contests, in which a large field of candidates seek their party's endorsement, held chief interest in the State's primary election today. Upwards of 300,000 voters, almost a record number, were expected to be cast.

Six Republicans seeking nomination to succeed Governor Ben S. Paulen are: D. A. N. Chase, Lieutenant-Governor; Frank J. Ryan, Secretary of State; John Hamilton, speaker of the House; Clyde M. Reed, Parsons publisher; Charles F. Scott, Iola publisher, and Fred Volland, Topeka.

Democratic candidates are former Representative Chauncey B. Little, Jasper T. Kincaid, farmer, and Ed T. Hackney, former State official.

Can a Girl Have Too Much Feminine Appeal?

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Deane, golden-haired, dark-eyed, who has lived her 18 years with David and Margaret O'Day, foster parents, in Worcester, learns she is the granddaughter of the wealthy and aristocratic Montgomery Deanes of Boston and Brookline, who disinherited her father and do not even know of her existence. Her mother is killed. Through John Blair, a young man she has learned to admire, she secures a letter to Howard Wescott, manager of a Boston mill. She meets Ginger Varden, a style model, who takes her to her boarding house and introduces her to her friends. One of these, Vic Flemming, makes love to her and asks her to marry him. Wescott, attracted by her beauty, offers her a place in the office.

That same evening while Vic, Jerry Durant, Ginger and Nancy are dining and dancing at the Pheasant, Wescott comes in; Vic picks a quarrel and they have a rough and tumble fight and are arrested.

The papers are full of the episode. Ginger insists on getting Nancy a job at modelling with Ziegelbaum, her employer.

When Wescott sees Nancy the next morning he acts as though nothing had happened, takes her to lunch to the country, shows jealousy of Vic Flemming and kisses Nancy.

She feels drawn to Wescott and confides in him her story all except the name of her grandparents.

She wonders if she is in love with him, all the time recalling John Blair. Wescott takes her motoring and shows his fondness for her. She accepts a job modelling for some evening style shows in nearby places, planning to ask Wescott to let her off early for a week.

Her rehearsal proves a great success with Ginger's em-

Folks, Jiggs Wants Corn' Beef Recipes

THE national contest to determine the best recipes for the preparation of corned beef and cabbage, in which the Boston Evening American is participating, will culminate in the presentation of three national prizes.

The contest being run in connection with Freezing Up Fatima, one of the most famous and widely beloved corn beef cows in the world, also will give the winning recipes and their authors a generous amount of corn.

The judging contest is a contest open to every person who believes in the effectiveness of his or her method of preparing the savory combination of meat and vegetables that Jiggs loves so much. Complete details of the contest will be found in the advertisement.

'LONDON SOCIETY'
—by—
'The Stray Lamb'

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE—Well, it was this way. The last ray of sunshine had faded from the attic window, from whence Elsie De Vaux, babe in hand, watched for the return of her sweated husband, Sir Harry Doncaster who, despite his wealth and his marriage vow, was just a souse-headed rotter. Instead of coming home nights and washing the dishes, this guy would take his ease and hat and go mooching down the street to call on a woman known as Rose, who was as talented and gifted a young widow as London society had known in many a day.

A MOTHER'S SOLILOQUY

DAYS, months and years glided by and Rose grew more beautiful every day, in the sunshine of Sir Harry Doncaster's love.

The gay world had lost its power to charm Harry. His ear was deaf to the prayers and pleadings of his wife and child.

In the presence of Rose, Sir Harry would look shudderingly back upon the long wasted years of friends that had marred his home life. Sometimes he frequenti—

The radio announcer said his wife has long distance telephone.

"Good evening, my invisible audience. This call comes from pay station Blank 7329, and is given to you through the courtesy of the Bell Telephone system which operates the Bell Telegraph system and publishes the Telephone Directory in which all subscribers are alphabetically listed. Let me say that this wonderful invention makes it possible for me to inquire if I left my seventeen-jewel open-face wrist watch with illumined face and unbreakable crystal on the easy payment French provincial commode between the sleep-easy twin beds manufactured by the Sleep Easy Bed corporation? If so, please communicate with this station..."

Telephone tolls of a radio announcer must be simply appalling.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

THERE are seven deadly reasons why a man shies at marriage.

If he isn't a pseudo-cynic, he's a woman-tamer. If he doesn't distrust all women, he has a weakness for them all. If he isn't too lazy to marry, he's too busy to marry. If he isn't too young to marry "yet" —he's too old to marry "now." Every little bachelor has a reason all his own!

There's the disenchanted man who can't find a girl "good enough" for him, and who pessimistically opines that all modern women are selfish, extravagant, unreliable, and "not worthy of a pure man's love."

But it is amazing how often he falls for some flighty little dumbbell with one good working brain-cell, who manages to persuade him that she is the one exception to her whole sex—the one person he never hoped to find!

And there is the individualist, who "can't afford to marry," although he seems to be able to afford everything else in life, including a high-powered car, an exclusive club, and monogrammed cigarettes.

But be of good cheer; the day always comes, sooner or later, when he tires of golf, speed or the club gin, and decides that, after all, he prefers love to luxury and human companionship to a Japanese valet.

Then there is the sport-model male, who loves to talk about marrying, purely academically, and is always searching for "the right girl."

He LOOKS so easy to tame; but try to catch him! His is the spirit of adventure that likes to try something—once! He is always falling in love—and catching his balance; getting entangled—and disentangled, getting engaged—and disengaged. He just can't love any one woman long enough to get beyond the third kiss —or as far as the solitaire.

And there is the hard-shelled, thirty-minute misogynist, who openly announces that marriage is "the bunk," and defies any woman to marry him, while he's conscious.

In short, the seven deadly reasons why a man doesn't marry are almost as inconsequential as the reasons why he DOES marry. Because —shush! don't tell them!—while few men marry intentionally, nearly all of them marry eventually!

CHILDREN AND MONEY

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

NOTHING marred the peace of the balmy Summer's day. Droning bees, intermittent chirps from the trees and the laughter of children from the sandpile were the only sounds on that warm Saturday afternoon when Mr. Smith lay stretched in heavy contentment on the porch swing, idly following a story in his favorite magazine. Suddenly the words "My father" uttered in his son's high, childish voice, attracted his attention, and he hastened, unmoving but nerves strained to catch the sentence in its entirety. "My father's nice, I like him 'cause he gives me a nickel whenever I ask him for it."

The magazine dropped to the swing and the father lay quite still, a sick, empty feeling engulfing him. The willingness to bring him the magazine; the offer to go upstairs after comfortable slippers; the eager kiss upon his return home—in that he felt that there was no other father and son who maintained quite the bond of good fellowship which he and Sonny enjoyed.

And now—"I like him 'cause he gives me a nickel whenever I ask him for it." The words were a burning hurt. They were a mighty arm smashing to pits his tenderest secret.

Luckily, this rather realized soon enough that his son must be taught the value and purchasing power of money and that the child had been receiving in spasmodic gifts, entirely too much. It had come to be something very desirable and very easy to get. So the father set about to inform the little boy just how hard he had to work each day in order to earn money for the home. He bought Sonny a new pair of shoes and paid for them in pennies, allowing the child to give them to the clerk. His eyes opened in astonishment and he said:

"My, what a lot of five pennies it takes to get me a pair of shoes, doesn't it?"

The mother took him to the grocery store and let him pay for a loaf of bread with pennies, and the child quickly learned to realize the value of the things he had taken for granted, by comparing their cost with his weekly allowance of five pennies.

The next year the allowance was increased to 10 pennies, and so on in proportion until at the age of 13, the lad was buying much of his clothing out of his own money. And not only that, he learned to save some each week, so that when he particularly wanted an article which cost more than his weekly allowance, he had a reserve fund to draw from.

After all, in living, it isn't our wise saving of money which is paramount. It is our wise spending of it. The only way a child can learn how to spend intelligently is to give him a stated sum and allow him to spend it as he sees fit.

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is actually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids, 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggistore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

FORBES SEES CHEER FOR OIL SHARES

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Aug. —In the writer's opinion, current events in the oil industry are of supreme importance. The modest reduction in crude oil now put into effect is to be carried soon to further notable extent, but there are influences at work which are bound to bring about substantial improvement in the price of crude oil. Already the Mexican situation is showing signs of clearing, and the Russian problem is not nearly so acute as it was a few months ago. Yet the trend is on the whole in the right direction, with fairly definite indications that the current year will show a better showing than the first half of the year and the second half of last year. An unusual number of public utility companies are reporting earnings which are not disappointing to stockholders. The majority of dividend changes are upwards, not downwards.

New York banks are taking a good deal easier attitude in their efforts to curb the inflow of funds from corporations and individuals and institutions at home and abroad for the broker carrying of Wall Street. In declining to charge any more interest than 5 per cent. on the big sum of money recently taken away from the banks by corporations, they make no pretense at altruism—and often they announce higher interest allowances on deposits.

But nobody can be with Wall Street unless not excited for a moment the wisdom of doing everything possible to curb the orgy of speculation so that genuine investment requirements may be met. Unless the stock market will not have a new epoch of danger. And stock speculation is hazardous enough without adding another peril.

last few years, until our shipments now rank second only to Great Britain among those of all nations. The expansion which is still taking place should provide an outlet for many of the products of this city and state according to Trade Commissioner Henry A. Bates, now in charge of the Argentine menne Department from his post at Buenos Aires. Mr. Bates will visit Boston next fall, bringing to the first-hand information about trade conditions in Argentina in business men of this locality, and for inquiries from the sale of Boston products of New England industries may be augmented.

Trade Commissioner Walter J Donnelly also will be on hand to give expected here today to advise New Englanders regarding conditions there. Trade Commissioner Donnelly, Mr. Burke, stationed at Bangkok, Siam, is also expected to visit this city before he returns to the Orient. This is the first time in history that a single week has seen three trade commissioners stationed in the Far East, who will welcome interviews with our business men.

As you probably read in the Bos-ton Evening American yesterday, Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes has just celebrated its 40th anniversary. Many read with surprise that the only employe of the original firm was James J. Phelan, who has since achieved international distinction in the financial world. We could tell of some of his numerous public philanthropies, but I know he never wishes to exploit them.

'JUNK' CARS ARE CAUSE OF MANY ACCIDENTS

By FRANK A. GOODWIN
Highway Safety Editor, Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

It was thought that compulsory insurance would eliminate from the road hundreds, if not thousands of irresponsible drivers. That has not been the case. According to the Boston Safety Council, there were 1,000 more accidents in point of holding a license until 1 year old.

Never have I seen so many dilapidated, rattling, smoking, unsafe cars as there are at present. A few days ago a letter came to the Boston Evening American that bears out the question. Here it is:

I have been following your daily articles on "Safe and Sane Driving" very closely and am afraid if we have your permission we have violated the number of accidents would diminish a great deal. Every day, there seems to be something when I have been watching for and someone or other has crossed my path or run into my car. I may either have missed it, or you have not brought it up to us and I hope you will not omit it in your articles to come.

JUNK CARS CAUSE MISHAPS

I have found many accidents are due to junk cars which are in the dealers' hands and put in the hands of irresponsible boys to any stage, so long as they get the money. These cars, as a rule, have faulty brakes and lights, as well as steering gear. My idea of dealing with the dealer in junk would be to prosecute any dealer selling a car that will be even a menace on the highway.

Hoping you will find my suggestions interesting, I look forward to your articles to head from you on this subject.

Very truly yours,
(signed) FRED PECCI.
1420 Marion st., East Boston.

This letter is interesting, for it outlines a positive menace on our highways, but the remedy suggested by him cannot be made effective, because there is no law, under which dealers could be prosecuted for selling junk. I doubt if many dealers sell these cars with any expectation that they will be used until put into proper condition. The only remedy is against those fool men who take an unsafe automobile out into the crowded streets.

POLICE ARE HELPLESS

As I stated in a former article, the police are very helpless because it is so hard to get a conviction on complaints from the department. The only remedy is for the police or inspectors to call to the attention of the registrar the number of any car that looks like a menace, with a description, so that it can be ordered to report at once to the registry or some branch office for inspection.

The license of any person caught driving one of these death traps should be revoked immediately and the registration should be cancelled.

I saw a car a few days ago with 5 boys in it and the operator seemed to be trying to see how many he could jumped in as it was moving. It was loaded down with over the doors and roof, indicating the impossibility of those in charge. Such cars should be taken off the road at once.

"TENDERLOIN" DRAWS AS TALKING MOVIE

Talking pictures are questionably popular. The second one to be seen in Boston is "Tenderloin," now playing at the Keith-Memorial and Fenway Theatres. It is another of the hokum crop of crook films.

Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel have the leading roles, of the ishared dancer and the honest crook respectively. Mitchell Lewis cleverly supports their leads as the villainous mastermind of the gendom. The picture itself is what might be called a thriller.

Grains were down yesterday, bears busy with wheat predicting $1 a bushel before the end of the year. The crop is abundant, so, according to bears and experience, prices must go down. It's an old story with farmers; when they haven't got it, the price is high, when they have plenty of it, the price is low.

If the railroads' request for rates cut in two in good times, they would not be happy.

Uncle Sam's budget for 1929 is estimated at three billion seven hundred million dollars. "Military defense" will be $659,000,000. If real war came none of that money would be spent usefully except wages to competent officers and the trifling amounts spent on flying and submarines. All the rest would be useless junk.

National defense cost has increased $40,000,000. That amount spent for flying machines, would give us a real defense.

DALLAS, TEXAS

Nov. 23, 1927

Mr E F Still, Gen. Mgr.
Gulf States Telephone Co.
Tyler, Texas

Dear Mr Still:

In accordance with the information in your letter of November 16 I prepared stories for the Associated Press and the United Press on the numerous purchases of independent telephone plants. These did not receive as much publicity as I hoped for because at the time I put them out the press wires happened to be crowded. The stories were in substance about the same as the one I wrote for the Brownwood Bulletin which you read while in Brownwood.

These conventions afford an excellent opportunity for distributing news about the telephone business and when you have ideas you want to put out please let me have them.

Sometime in the near future I want to ask your advice on the advisability or trying to get a few more independent telephone companies to contribute to our current.

Very truly yours,

Director.

WOC:MG

HERE are pictured the activities of W. C. Grent, witness before the Federal Trade Commission in its investigation of the so-called Power Trust, in preparing news articles for press assotions and running a propaganda bureau in Texas for the power interests. Grant worked as "relief editor" for the Associated Press while director of the bureau, he testified.

In a letter to R. B. Still, general manager of the Gulf States Telephone Company and a member of the propaganda bureau committee, Grant says he has "prepared stories for the Associated Press and the United Press on the numerous purchases of independent telephone plants.

"These conventions afford an excellent opportunity for distributing news about the telephone business and when you have ideas you want to put out please let me have them."

Electrical Men Turn Against Power Lobby

By M. L. RAMSAY.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Action to force electric light and power companies to stop their nation-wide propaganda and other "unfair methods" was put up to other branches of the electrical industry here.

A. B. Walton, Washington representative of the Society of Certified Electricians, placed the issue before the association of electragists, international representative of several thousand contractors and dealers, which opened its annual convention in Chicago today.

In a letter to the association's executive committee, Walton declared the utilities must cease to indoctrinate, dictators, and must again become the public servants that the laws creating them intended them to be.

"The people have been generous in giving them many special privileges not enjoyed by competitive industries, and the people can take away that which they have given when these privileges are abused."

KEPT IN IGNORANCE.

Like the public, contractors and dealers have in the past been kept in ignorance of some improper phases of industry, Walton's letter said. It continued:

"Ignoring the independence and welfare of the other branches of the industry, the light and power companies have set out to dominate independent electrical manufacturers, distributors and retailers.

"Propaganda, circulated among electrical men, as well as in schools, newspapers and magazines, has been one means of establishing and maintaining this utility dictatorship. Pirating the Peabody idea' on a contractor or dealer who failed to stand up and cheer any project or policy of company, proposed by the utility leaders is a familiar phase of this.

DOMINANT POSITION.

"Perverted use of millions of dollars' worth of advertising has been another method of maintaining a dominant position, and accommodating State regulatory commissions that the laws creating them intended them to be.

"The utilities have gained control of the retail channels for the distribution of current consuming devices.

"If they are allowed to retain weapons so powerful as these, and turn them in part against other branches of the industry, the independent manufacturers, distributors and retailers will be put to work in the next five years as their forces of men and counter-jumpers."

Hearst Nationwide Ballot Opens Soon

these States are prepared to record themselves in a canvass which, because of its scope, cannot help but approximate the actual results of the November election.

This year's campaign is, in the opinion of all the political experts, sure to be the most stirring, as it is in many respects the most important, presidential struggle since the Civil War.

FIRST RETURNS AUG. 12

The first tabulations are expected to appear August 12. Daily in the Boston Evening American there after the returns will be flashed together with an analytical review of the figures in an effort to approximate, if not definitely indicate, what will be the verdict of the American electorate on November 6.

All possible sources of influence are to be eliminated in the nation-wide canvass. The main weaknesses to be guarded against —duplications and repeating—are provided for so perfectly that these hazards have been eliminated.

All other weaknesses characteristic of ordinary straw votes have been carefully studied and methods devised to reduce them to a negligible minimum.

The plan, then, which is as error-proof as it seems humanly possible to make it in an undertaking of this kind and of such scope, will be put into operation under the direction of the following Hearst newspapers:

Boston Evening American.
Boston Sunday Advertiser.
Chicago Herald and Examiner.
Seattle Post Intelligencer.
San Francisco Examiner.
Oakland Post Inquirer.
Los Angeles Examiner.
San Antonio Light.
Omaha Bee-News.
Milwaukee-Wisconsin News.
Detroit Times.
Atlanta Georgian.
Washington (D. C.) Herald.
Baltimore News.
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.
New York American.
Rochester (N. Y.) Journal.
Syracuse (N. Y.) Telegram.

WOMEN INCLUDED

Previous straw votes have been confined largely to the great cities and likely populated rural districts adjoining urban centers. One of the big problems confronting the politicians this year will be the "farm vote." The test ballots of the Hearst newspapers will endeavor to furnish an answer to this before the votes are counted next November 6.

In the doubtful states every section will be canvassed.

Women as well as men will be given an opportunity of expressing their choice.

Above all, the ballot will be secret. No effort will be made to ascertain how any persons vote. The Hearst newspapers are not interested in the opinion of any individual. An honest effort will be made to get an accurate expression of the collective views of the nation and forecast what will be the next President.

MANY DOUBTFUL STATES

In the so-called doubtful states the poll will be of special significance and value.

At the top-off, the doubtful states, with their electoral vote are:

New York..... 45	Kentucky 13
Massachusetts 18	Missouri 18
Oklahoma 7	Connecticut 7
Delaware 3	Tennessee 12
Rhode Island .. 5	Wisconsin 13

There are 531 votes in the Electoral College, 266 being necessary to elect. These may be other states, notably in the solid south, that will veer from the political line as the campaign progresses.

MORE THAN A MERE POLL

The poll will be absolutely unbiased. Its accuracy in the facts appealed to, shown and sustained in every instance by the actual figures, will be faithfully recorded.

In preparing the analysis of the several tabulations, national managers of both the Hoover and Smith forces will be consulted. They will be afforded an opportunity to say what, in their judgment, the figures indicate.

In addition, others who have become expert in political matters will be consulted for interpretative aid.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of the President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Umbrella Pine

The Woodsman Spared THIS Tree or He Lost His Health

Eastern newspaper men who attended the Republican National Convention in Kansas City observed the pride with which Kansas City folk spoke of the local park system.

But they also observed that the claim was NEVER advanced that Kansas City has the "best park system in the United States."

The farthest any of them would go in the way of claim was that Kansas City stood NEXT TO BOSTON.

How many Bostonians know that more than one-tenth of the total land area of their city is devoted to parks and playgrounds; that, in fact, the park and playground movement in America had its BEGINNING here?

To know them all, including the Common, the Public Garden and the beaches, would take more time than the head of the family may be able to give to the "grand tour" in a single season, but if you will visit Park Square you will see how alert is the stranger, the "tourist," to take advantage of the opportunity to visit Franklin Park and the Arnold Arboretum BY BUS.

Beginning at 8 o'clock each morning and at hourly intervals thereafter these busses set out for Franklin Park by way of the Museum of Fine Arts, Jamaica Pond and the Arboretum.

Franklin Park and the Arboretum, together with Marine Park at City Point, are the outstanding EDUCATIONAL features of the park system. It happens, nevertheless, that visitors know more about them than some of our own people, just as visitors sometimes are better acquainted with Bunker Hill, the Paul Revere house, North Church and the interior of the Old South.

While this is what might be called the "slack" season at the Arboretum, the flowering season being near its close, some of the mid-season trees are at the height of their beauty.

If you want a thrill—everyone talks of "thrills," nowadays—see in the Juniper Dell at the Arboretum the several fine specimens of sciadopitys verticillata, one of the most notable conifers that can be grown in this climate. In private life, and away from the scientists, the s. v. is known as the Japanese Umbrella Pine. Keeper Wilson describes it as of "dense, pyramidal habit with ascending-spreading branches." Reflect, as you gaze upon it, that:

"By the old regime in Japan, this was one of the seven famous trees, the illegitimate felling of which was a capital offense. The wood is white, fragrant, very durable in water, and is much used in Japan for making bathtubs and small boats. It is confined mainly to the mountains of central Japan, being very abundant on Koyasan, not far from the ancient capital of Nara."

But the Arboretum—HAVE you neglected it?—is a collection of more than 6500 kinds of trees, shrubs and vines, planted to form one of the world's most beautiful parks and most valuable sources of knowledge about the realm of woody plants.

As for Franklin Park, trees and foliage there NEVER looked better, the herbaceous garden is in full bloom and ALL the animals are OUT OF DOORS.

Remember about the Park Square bus, and before this vacation time is ended make your children acquainted with some of the treasures which are theirs.

It is good to see our visitors take full advantage of the riches which Boston places before them so lavishly, sad to reflect that many Bostonians are seemingly indifferent toward them.

STORY OF MAN WITH THREE DAUGHTERS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

BULWER LYTTON calls attention to the fact that good stories will always be about the past. The past is romantic, the present is humdrum.

Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, the well-known lexicographer, has dug around among folk lore considerably. He has found in East Anglia, England, a fairy story that is not very widely known. As any good story needs no apology I reproduce the main features of it here:

Once there was a very rich man who had three daughters. He asked each of them, "How much do you love me?" One said, "I love you as life." Another said, "Better than all the world."

The third answered, however, "Why, daddy, I love you as fresh meat loves salt."

The father thereupon was angry and said to the third child, "You do not love me, child. Out of my house you go for you cannot stay here."

The third, sad at heart, wandered aimlessly about, until one day she came upon a lot of rushes growing in a ditch and made from them a cloak and hood which entirely concealed her fine clothes.

Coming to a large manor house she got employment washing pots and scraping sauce pans.

Because she gave no name they called her "Cap o' Rushes."

One day a dance was held in a nearby castle. Everybody else went but Cap o' Rushes, who remained by her fireside. But when all were gone she doffed her rush concealments, washed up and went to the dance. She was more beautiful than anyone else there. The master's son fell in love with her at once and refused to dance with anyone else.

Before the dance was over she escaped and went home.

The next morning the other servants said that she had missed a grand sight. "What was that?" she asked.

"Why," they said, "the beautifulest lady you ever saw. The young master never took his eyes off her."

The next evening there was another dance and similar events occurred.

The third evening, on the occasion of another dance, the young master was so in love with her that he gave her a ring and said if he never saw her again he would die.

Cap o' Rushes again escaped. The young master hunted everywhere for her, pining away for love.

He took to his bed and the cook was ordered to make some gruel for him as he was dying of love.

Cap o' Rushes, however, made the gruel, slipped the ring into it and took it upstairs. The young master saw the ring when he had finished the gruel and asked who had prepared the dish. Learning it was Cap o' Rushes he sent for her and asked her where she got the ring. "From him that gave it to me," she said.

"And who are you?" he asked.

"I will show you," she replied, and took off her rushes.

And there she stood in all her beautiful clothes.

Of course they had a grand wedding, and at the wedding feast Cap o' Rushes arranged to have all the meat served without salt. Cap o' Rushes' father tried it and then burst into tears.

"Oh," he cried out, "once I had a daughter. When I asked her how much she loved me she said, 'As much as fresh meat loves salt.' So I drove her away for I thought she did not love me. And now I see she loves me best, though she may be dead by now."

"No, father, here she is." She put her arms about his neck and kissed him, and so "they lived happily ever after."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A SUCCESSFUL business man once said to me—"I HAVE MADE IT A RULE OF MY LIFE TO BLAME MYSELF FIRST WHEN ANYTHING WITH WHICH I AM CONCERNED GOES WRONG.

"For example," said he, "take the offended customers with which every firm has to deal. It's easy to fix the responsibility for that on some clerk, but I waste time and strength if I go on blaming clerks. IT'S MY BUSINESS TO HIRE CLERKS WHO WON'T OFFEND CUSTOMERS AND TO KEEP THEIR CONDUCT UP TO STANDARD. And so it goes all along the line. No matter what happens, it's really up to me and I might as well recognize that to begin with."

BLAME YOURSELF FIRST!

That's a good philosophy for any human. And you'll not get very far in life until you adopt it.

Barring the acts of God, you and you alone are responsible for the things that happen to your life.

You're responsible if your husband is rude to you—

Or your children sass you—

Or the neighbors impose on you—

Or the trade folk cheat you—

Or the world at large does you dirt.

You may not be able to change the character of husbands, children, neighbors, trade folk or the world at large—

BUT YOU CAN CONTROL THEIR ATTITUDE TOWARD YOU!—

AND THE SERVICE THEY RENDER to you.

You can lighten up the loose ends in your own character which give people the opportunity to undo you.

The loose ends of laziness, fuzzy thinking, self pity, cowardice, conceit, sentimentality and peevishness—

These are the things that really undo and betray you—not your fellow man.

Your husband's rudeness, your neighbor's malice, your children's impudence, do not begin in husbands or neighbors or children.

THEY BEGIN IN YOU—

IN THE WEAK PLACES OF YOUR OWN NATURE.

Don't waste time complaining about what other people do to you—

GET BUSY AND MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO DO SUCH THINGS TO YOU!

BLAME YOURSELF FIRST!

YOU'RE THE RESPONSIBLE PARTY.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

The true purpose of education is to cherish and unfold the seed of immortality already sown within us; to develop, to their fullest extent, the capacities of every kind with which the God who made us has endowed us.
—Jameson.

It is some relief to weep; grief is satisfied and carried off by tears.
—Ovid.

Nothing is said nowadays that has not been said before.
—Terence.

Consult your friend on all things, especially on those which respect yourself. His counsel may then be useful, where your own self-love might impair your judgment.
—Seneca.

A life of ease is a difficult pursuit.
—Cowper.

Learning is a kind of natural food for the mind.
—Cicero.

Method is not less requisite in ordinary conversation than in writing, provided a man would talk to make himself understood.
—Addison.

If a book come from the heart, it will contrive to reach other hearts; all art and authorcraft are of small amount to that.
—Carlyle.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Perhaps the most contradictory and curious of the periodical phenomena is Variety, a theatrical weekly. It is the Bible of the amusement world, read alike by the reigning star of screen and stage and the stake driver on the circus lot.

It has been the subject of literary-class discussion in the stately halls of Columbia and other colleges. Professorial gentlemen have pondered over its amazing appeal among all classes. The American Mercury made a thesis for an analytical piece.

The chief charge against the journal is it is written in execrable English, but at the same time it will confound its critics by a brilliant editorial worthy of the pen of a Dumas. It is patent it frequently slings the Broadway slang with a tongue in its cheek.

It is responsible for much stage patter of the day. The term "good theater" was its product. Also "laying them out in the aisle," "belly laugh," "slaying 'em," "the quickies," "dumb acts," "ga-ga" and hundreds of other apparently senseless but really illuminating phrases.

Variety occupies a building on West 45th st., in the throbbing heart of the theatrical district. Its editor, Sime Silverman, sits at a desk on a raised platform known by employes as "the throne." Yet he is in no sense regal in his attitude. Every man who works for him is his pal. A weighty conference is likely to end up in a coin-matching contest.

They have gone through rough times together and listened for the ominous knock of the bailiff at the front door. Sime is a personable and lovable fellow and his absolute fearlessness has jockeyed him into many tight places. But he always comes out on top, smiling. He won't be bluffed.

He has deliberately taken stands costing him small fortunes in loss of advertising. He is at times erratic, not answering a letter for months or appearing at his office for weeks. At other times he will remain at his desk for days, catching a few winks of sleep upstairs at night.

BEEKMAN pl., Sutton pl. and Tudor City are rivals for the new social swank flowering amid a tumble-down district skirting the East river. The visitor is rather amazed to ride through shabby streets with seabrous buildings, criss-crossed with fire escapes, and turn suddenly into landscaped areas dotted with magnificent apartment houses that have their verdant inside courts, canopied entrances, gold-braided doormen and other gew-gaws of wealth.

ALL this grandeur is due to a restless urge of those crawling with money to be different. And exclusive. First and second aves. and Avenue A, as a result, have something to relieve the monotony of drabness in watching their swell neighbors.

NEW YORK has innumerable walking clubs meeting each evening for long strolls about the city. There is one club, called the "Bridge Hikers" because they first started daily walks across Brooklyn bridge, that has never failed to have its daily quota in good weather and bad for years. It is said Manhattan's most indefatigable walker is Dr. John H. Finley of the New York Times. Another faithful hiker is Bernard MacFadden, the physical culturist, who often walks five miles to his office in the morning.

BUT New York generally is not a city of walkers. The average citizen walks from home to the nearest subway elevated or street car morning and evening, and that is about all.

MOST walkers are those walking to reduce. Indeed the flesh reducing craze in the metropolis is a pronounced mania. Any new idea is hailed with enthusiastic hysteria. As a thin guy whose life has been a contest with Nature to keep from being blown away, it all seems ahaddayoncallit.

Happy Mother; Fine Boy

the cricket field at the university match between Oxford and Cambridge.

Mr. Allom is a fast bowler, a fine young man, proud of his mother, and not ashamed with other boys looking on to walk out to the cricket field holding his mother by the hand. In her honor he promptly "took two Oxford wickets."

This boy sets a good example to other boys. And his mother offers an important lesson to young girls.

The good example for boys was written long ago in the Ten Commandments, "Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

The duty of boys is to honor their fathers and their mothers, MOTHERS ESPECIALLY. And a mother should be honored, loved, cared for, and protected not merely that "thy days may be long in the land." There should be no selfish motive, no hope for something in return—from Heaven or elsewhere. A boy should love his mother in return for the love that she has given him, in return for suffering that she endured at his birth.

The lesson for girls in this picture is GET MARRIED, have sons and daughters of your own.

Look at the mother in this picture and the fine boy who leads her by the hand. Do you think there is ANYTHING that, in her life, could take the place of that boy, anything on earth or in Heaven that could give greater happiness to a mother than to have a fine son devoted to her and proud of her? Not wealth or fashion, dresses or romance, or love affairs or anything else could compare with the greatest love in the world, that of a mother for her son.

Young ladies, see to it that you know what that love is before you die. Get married, have children, leave foolishness to others.
